Without Our Past:

Without Our Past? Ann Falkner, 1977-12-15 In their growing awareness of the need to keep alive Canada's heritage individuals, community groups and small historical societies have long felt the need for a basic guide to the preservation of buildings, particularly buildings which though they may not warrant provincial or federal protection are nevertheless important to the history and values of their communities. Using the knowledge gained from many years of experience in various government departments and her familiarity with several successful building conservation projects, Ann Falkner has written this practical handbook for those concerned about preserving heritage structures. She covers clearly and in detail the various problems to be faced and actions to be taken and analyses the assistance available through legislation at all three levels of government. Without Our Past deals with inventories and how they are conducted and through a series of concrete examples with the evaluation and selection of worthwhile buildings. It explains acquisition procedures for all types of properties, municipal powers under provincial planning acts and control through specific zoning. It offers suggestions on how to re-use an outdated structure and how to create a compatible environment around a building and it points out the value of publicity and local interest in gaining general support and cooperation. In a separate chapter, expenses and finances are covered, including fund raising and the increasing monetary benefits of conservation.

The Future Without a Past John Paul Russo, 2005 Argues that technological imperatives like rationalization, universalism, monism and autonomy have transformed the humanities and altered the relation between humans and nature. Examines technology and its impact on education, historical memory and technological and literary values in criticism and theory, concluding with an analysis of the fiction of Don DeLillo. Women Without a Past? Joanne Sayner, 2007 Contains autobiographies written by women who experienced Nazism from different perspectives: Elfriede Brining, Hilde Huppert, Greta Kuckhoff, Elisabeth Langgässer, Melita Maschmann, Inge Scholl and Grete Weil. This book examines autobiography as a form of writing at the centre of debates on the self, truth and history.

Politics Without a Past Shari J. Cohen, 1999-11-22 Argues that the rise to power of quasi-nationalist demagogues in many post-communist countries is the result of organized forgetting orchestrated by communist regimes that left these countries with little common history.
