Technopolis Phenomenon:

The Technopolis Phenomenon David V. Gibson, George Kozmetsky, Raymond W. Smilor, 1992 Leading experts from academia government and industry present information ideas programs and initiatives that accelerate the creation of smart cities fast systems and global networks The Technopolis Phenomenon IC2 Institute (Austin, TX), 1990 The Technopolis Phenomenon David V. Gibson, George Kozmetsky, Raymond W. Smilor, 1992 Diffusion of New Technologies in the Post-Communist World Y.M. Rabkin, 2013-03-11 The end of this century has witnessed dramatic changes in morality history and geography These changes were felt throughout the world and also across the entire gamut of professional concerns Even relatively remote and seemingly insulated activities such as science and technology have experienced and up to a point contributed to these dramatic changes This volume presents a series of views on the effect of these changes on science and technology and more specifically on the international diffusion of new technologies These views come from a variety of fields among them history and sociology of science political science information sciences marketing Yet most authors share an interest in science policy studies which permeates this collection It would be fair to say that this volume belongs to the intellectual domain known as STS i e studies in Science Technology and Society The authors come from nine countries and their contributions are expected to reflect this diversity It is well known that the dominant lingua franca in the end of the 20th century is Broken English with the possible exception of a minority of native English speakers some of whom fail to learn this new language An attempt was therefore made throughout this volume to conform to a certain standard of English usage and at the same time to preserve the local flavour of expression and the stylistic and cultural dimensions of each chapter The Technological Evolution of Industrial Districts Fiorenza Belussi, Giorgio Gottardi, Enzo Rullani, 2012-12-06 Fiorenza Belussi Giorgio Gottardi and Enzo Rullani This volume collects some papers presented at the Vicenza conference The Future of Districts held in June 1999 organised by the Department of Technology and Management of Industrial Systems of the Faculty of Engineering of Padua University with the collaboration of several engineers industrial economists and experts in the issue of technology management This was the starting point of a long lasting and painful collective discussion the results of which are documented here during many meetings of this itinerant group including the workshop in Padua organised by Professor Luciano Pilotti and held in May 2001 Systems governance knowledge within firm networks at the Department of Economics of the University of Padua and the recent international research seminar held in May 2002 in Rome at the Tagliacarne Institute within the EU sponsored project Industrial districts re location processes identifying policies of EU enlargement West East ID The reason we decided to organise this book was not only to underline the importance of the industrial district ID model as a tool of propulsive local growth in a country like Italy On the contrary the idea that moved us was the theoretical dissatisfaction with the way in which the phenomenon of local development and industrial clustering of specific industries was treated in the international approach of the various disciplines State,

Society and Information Technology in Asia Alan Chong, Faizal Bin Yahya, 2016-04-01 Many maintain that the arrival of computers networked across sovereign borders and physical barriers is a liberating force that will produce a global dialogue of liberal hues but this book argues that this dominant paradigm needs to be supplemented by the perspective of alterity in the impact of Information Technology in different regions Local experts draw upon a range of Asian cases to demonstrate how alterity defined here as a condition of privileging the hitherto marginal and subterranean aspects of a capitalist world order through the capabilities of information and communications technologies offers an alternative to the paradigm of inevitable material advances and political liberalization Calling attention to the unique social and political uses being made of IT in Asia in the service of offline and online causes predominantly filtered by pre existing social milieus the contributors examine the multiple dimensions of Asian differences in the sociology and politics of IT and show how present trends suggest that advanced electronic media will not necessarily be embraced in a smooth unilinear fashion throughout Asia This book will appeal to any reader interested in the nexus between society and IT in Asia

Small Firms and Economic Development in Developed and Transition Economies David A. Kirby, Anna Watson, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2003 Since the late 1970s there has been considerable interest in the role of small firms in economic development in general and employment generation in particular Throughout the developed world governments have introduced a range of measures to encourage small firm growth and development in an attempt to stimulate economic growth generate employment and foster innovation Though not all measures have been successful many policies have transferred to the transition economies of Central and Eastern Europe where since 1989 small firm growth and development has achieved considerable importance in economic restructuring Accordingly this volume presents the leading research on the role of small firms in economic development and employment generation in both transition and developed countries Setting itself in a wider theoretical context the book also considers the implications for both policy and theory and suggests directions for future research
