The Falling Man:

Falling Man Don DeLillo, 2007-05-15 There is September 11 and then there are the days after and finally the years Falling Man is a magnificent essential novel about the event that defines turn of the century America It begins in the smoke and ash of the burning towers and tracks the aftermath of this global tremor in the intimate lives of a few people First there is Keith walking out of the rubble into a life that he d always imagined belonged to everyone but him Then Lianne his estranged wife memory haunted trying to reconcile two versions of the same shadowy man And their small son Justin standing at the window scanning the sky for more planes These are lives choreographed by loss grief and the enormous force of history Brave and brilliant Falling Man traces the way the events of September 11 have reconfigured our emotional landscape our memory and our perception of the world It is cathartic beautiful heartbreaking

The Mechanics of Claims and Permissible Killing in War Alec D. Walen, 2019-03-15 According to the dominant account of rights there are two ways to permissibly kill people they have done something to forfeit their right to life or their rights are outweighed by the significantly greater cost of respecting them Contemporary just war theorists tend to agree that it is difficult to justify killing in the second way Thus they focus on the conditions under which rights might be forfeited But it has proven hard to defend an account of forfeiture that permits killing when and only when it is morally justifiable In The Mechanics of Claims and Permissible Killing in War Alec D Walen develops an alternative account of rights according to which rights forfeiture has a much smaller role to play It plays a smaller role because rights themselves are more contextually contingent They systematically reflect the different kinds of claims people can make on an agent For example those who threaten to cause harm without a right to do so have weaker claims not to be killed than innocent bystanders or those who have a right to threaten to cause harm By framing rights as the output of a balance of competing claims and by laying out a detailed account of how to balance competing claims Walen provides a more coherent account of when killing in war is permissible

The Cultural Life of Catastrophes and Crises Carsten Meiner, Kristin Veel, 2012-10-30 Catastrophes and crises are exceptions They are disruptions of order In various ways and to different degrees they change and subvert what we regard as normal They may occur on a personal level in the form of traumatic or stressful situations on a social level in the form of unstable political financial or religious situations or on a global level in the form of environmental states of emergency The main assumption in this book is that in contrast to the directness of any given catastrophe and its obvious physical economical and psychological consequences our understanding of catastrophes and crises is shaped by our cultural imagination No matter in which eruptive and traumatizing form we encounter them our collective repertoire of symbolic forms historical sensibilities modes of representation and patterns of imagination determine how we identify analyze and deal with catastrophes and crises This book presents a series of articles investigating how we address and interpret catastrophes and crises in film literature art and theory ranging from Voltaire s eighteenth century Europe haunted by revolutions and earthquakes to the

1994 genocide in Rwanda to the bleak prophetic landscapes of Cormac McCarthy Falling Man Don DeLillo, 2007 Falling Man begins in the smoke and ash of the burning twin towers and follows the aftermath in the intimate lives of a few individuals

The Prestige of Violence Sally Bachner, 2011 In The Prestige of Violence Sally Bachner argues that starting in the 1960s American fiction laid claim to the status of serious literature by placing violence at the heart of its mission and then insisting that this violence could not be represented. Bachner demonstrates how many of the most influential novels of this period are united by the dramatic opposition they draw between a debased and untrustworthy conventional language on the one hand and a violence that appears to be prelinguistic and unquestionable on the other. Genocide, terrorism, war, torture, slavery, rape, and murder are major themes, yet the writers insist that such events are unspeakable. Bachner takes issue with the claim made within trauma studies that history is the site of violent trauma, inaccessible to ordinary representation. Instead, she argues, both trauma studies and the fiction to which it responds institutionalize an inability to address violence. Examining such works as Vladimir Nabokov's Pale Fire, Thomas Pynchon's The Crying of Lot 49, Norman Mailer's Armies of the Night, Margaret Atwood's Surfacing, and Philip Roth's The Plot Against America, Bachner locates the postwar prestige of violence in the disjunction between the privileged security of wealthier Americans and the violence perpetrated by the United States abroad. The literary investment in unspeakable and often immaterial violence emerges in Bachner's readings as a complex and ideologically varied literary solution to the political geography of violence in our time.

Edinburgh Companion to Don DeLillo and the Arts Catherine Gander, 2023-07-04 The Edinburgh Companion to Don DeLillo and the Arts is the first book to provide a comprehensive study of Don DeLillo's career, long engagements with the visual, literary, digital, and televisual, performing, filmic, and spatial arts. Gathering original essays from a diverse range of international contributors, including established voices in DeLillo criticism and emerging experts, the volume forges new paths in the study of one of the greatest authors of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Beginning with a section dedicated to experiential and political aesthetics in DeLillo's work, the Companion offers new perspectives on the forms and functions of the arts across DeLillo's entire oeuvre, from his first novel Americana through his plays, essays, short stories, to his latest novel The Silence. This exciting Companion is a genuine intervention in DeLillo scholarship by offering an interdisciplinary examination of his work across forms, media, method, and theory.

9/11: Culture, Catastrophe and the Critique of Singularity Diana Gonçalves, 2016-10-24 Even though much has been said and written about 9/11, the work developed on this subject has mostly explored it as an unparalleled event, a turning point in history. This book wishes to look instead at how disruptive events promote a network of associations and how people resort to comparison as a means to make sense of the unknown, i.e. to comprehend what seems incomprehensible. In order to effectively discuss the complexity of 9/11, this book articulates different fields of knowledge and perspectives, such as visual culture, media studies, performance studies, critical theory, memory studies, and literary studies, to shed some light on 9/11 and analyze how the event has impacted on American social and cultural fabric and how the American society has come to terms with such a devastating event A more in depth study of Don DeLillo s Falling Man and Jonathan Safran Foer s Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close draws attention to the cultural construction of catastrophe and the plethora of cultural products 9 11 has inspired It demonstrates how the event has been integrated into American culture and exemplifies what makes up the 9 11 imaginary The Central Liberal Truth Lawrence E. Harrison,2008-07-08 Which cultural values beliefs and attitudes best promote democracy social justice and prosperity How can we use the forces that shape cultural change such as religion education and political leadership to promote these values in the Third World and for underachieving minorities in the First World In this book Lawrence E Harrison offers intriguing answers to these questions in a valuable follow up to his acclaimed Culture Matters Drawing on a three year research project that explored the cultural values of dozens of nations from Botswana Sweden and India to China Egypt and Chile Harrison offers a provocative look at values around the globe revealing how each nation s culture has propelled or retarded their political and economic progress The book presents 25 factors that operate very differently in cultures prone to progress and those that resist it including one s influence over destiny the importance attached to education the extent to which people identify with and trust others and the role of women in society Harrison pulls no punches and many of his findings are controversial Contradicting the arguments of multiculturalists this book contends that when it comes to promoting human progress some cultures are clearly more effective than others It convincingly shows which values beliefs and attitudes work and how we can foster them Harrison takes up the question that is at the center of politics today Can we self consciously change cultures so they encourage development and modernization David Brooks New York Times I can think of no better entrance to the topic both for what it teaches and the way it invites and prepares the reader to continue A gateway study David S Landes author of The Wealth and Poverty of Nations The Teacher's Journal ,1904 Harper's Monthly Magazine ,1902 A History of Rome Robert Fowler Leighton,1878 New Testament hours Cunningham Geikie,1894 The Kreutzer Sonata graf Leo Tolstoy,1890 The Hibbert Lectures ,1894 Rays from the Rose Cross ,1918 Familiar studies of men and books.
