

A stone relief carving of a bearded man's head, likely a Sumerian deity or ruler, with the text "The Sumerians" overlaid. The carving is in a light-colored stone, possibly limestone or gypsum, and shows a man with a full, curly beard and a headband. The man's eyes are closed, and he has a serene expression. The background of the relief is filled with intricate, repeating patterns, possibly representing a decorative frieze or a specific architectural element. The text "The Sumerians" is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font, centered over the lower part of the carving.
