Critical Thinking for Social Work Keith Brown,Lynne Rutter,2008-07-17 Critical thinking as a process can appear formal and academic and far removed from everyday practitioner experience This second edition of enables post qualifying students to develop their analytical skills in line with their everyday experiences By placing emphasis on writing communication and critical reflection this book challenges the view that theory and critical awareness are the preserve of the classroom and instead gives the reader the confidence to better enhance their social work skills Social Work: Themes, Issues and Critical Debates Robert Adams, Lena Dominelli, Malcolm Payne, 2009-04-16 Social Work Themes Issues and Critical Debates one of the most respected and widely used textbooks in social work has now been completely revised and updated With its accessible and clearly structured framework the book offers expert discussion of the core topics in social work by top writers teachers and practitioners in the field It provides an essential grounding in the debates that shape the profession as well as a clear insight into the issues at the heart of practice What makes this highly regarded and bestselling book stand out from other texts Its range authority and theoretical integrity Its clear and effective structure which reflects major shifts in teaching and makes it easy to use across modules The importance it lays on practice based learning and on developing core practice skills such as communication assessment and intervention Its value as a springboard to further reading including extensive guidance on further print and electronic sources Its compact size perfect for readers who are travelling between campus and practice settings This is one of three interrelated books edited by the internationally renowned and widely published team Robert Adams Lena Dominelli and Malcolm Payne The companion books are Critical Practice in Social Work second edition and Practising Social Work in a Complex World Each book can be used alone or in combination with the other two as a uniquely flexible and comprehensive programme of study Critical Learning for Social Work Students Sue Jones, 2009-03-10 Students need to be critical analytical and evaluative in their thinking reading and writing when undertaking the challenge of a social work degree While lecturers may highlight this need when marking assignments there is limited space to explore these topics within an already tight social work curriculum This concise guide helps to tackle this problem It includes chapters on thinking critically how to develop writing skills how to reason and finally developing as a critical practitioner Reflective Thinking in Social Work Mekada Julia Graham, 2017-02-17 It is vital that social work students learn to integrate their personal and professional selves if they are to meet the challenges of social work in complex changing environments This accessible text is designed to enable readers to explore and build on their existing skills and abilities supporting them to become competent and self aware reflective practitioners Reflective Thinking in Social Work uses stories told by a range of social work students to model reflective practice learning Discussing issues such as identity motivation to enter the social work profession and lived experiences in the journey into social work the book brings together stories of hardship privilege families hopes interests and community activism from many diverse ethnic backgrounds Each narrative is introduced by the author and ends with a commentary drawing out the key themes and exploring how the reader can use the narrative to enhance their own understanding and critical thinking and to engage in transformative practice

Framed by an in depth discussion of available frameworks for reflective practice in different contexts and the importance of narratives in constructing identities this is an invaluable text for social work students at both bachelor s and master s degree levels

Reflective Learning for Social Work Nick Gould,Imogen Taylor,1996 A seminal text for educators and trainers interested in reflective learning which brings together conceptual research and case materials from both academic and professional practice settings

Reflective Practice in Education and Social Work Robyn Ewing,Fran Waugh,David L. Smith,2021-12-14 This book offers unique interdisciplinary insights into developing connections between reflective practice and employability particularly through the lenses of the education and social work professions It recognises the various meanings that can be applied to the notion of reflection and examines the challenges of using reflective practice in the workplace The chapters explore the tensions that arise from preparing professionals to be agents of change and concerned with social justice and equity Further the book provides much needed perspective on how diverse positions can be identified and leveraged and shared meanings negotiated in the creation of meaningful professional learning resources for early career teachers and social workers and across the career continuum Bringing together contributions from internationally renowned scholars Reflective Practice in Education and Social Work is essential reading for early career and experienced professionals in education and social work academics and practitioners seeking further professional development in reflective practice

Working with Human Service Organisations Fiona Gardner,2006 Workers in human service organisations often find work with clients relatively manageable but struggle to work effectively with their employing agency particularly when translating professional values and a client centred approach to practice Working with Human Service Organisations provides students and human service workers with a range of tools to assist them to reflect and act critically and creatively within organisations In Part One the current context for workers and organisations is examined in relation to organisational theory and practice theory In Part Two a model for integrated practice is proposed to enable students to make connections between their professional training and the aims and structures of the organisation

Children and Young People's Spaces Pam Foley,Stephen Leverett,2011 This reader takes debates about children s services forward by drawing on ideas based in social pedagogy and arguing that the concept of space is crucial to relationships and practices with children and young people It will stimulate students to question and rethink and practitioners to innovate and challenge mainstream thinking
