Lynn,1928 Writing the Lost Generation Craig Monk,2010-11 Members of the Lost Generation American writers and artists who lived in Paris during the 1920s continue to occupy an important place in our literary history Rebellious against increased commercialism and the ebb of cosmopolitan society in early twentieth century America they rejected the culture of what Ernest Hemingway called a place of broad lawns and narrow minds Much of what we know about these iconic literary figures comes from their own published letters and essays revealing how adroitly they developed their own reputations by controlling the reception of their work Surprisingly the literary world has paid less attention to their autobiographies In Writing the Lost Generation Craig Monk unlocks a series of neglected texts while reinvigorating our reading of more familiar ones Well known autobiographies by Malcolm Cowley Ernest Hemingway and Gertrude Stein are joined here by works from a variety of lesser known but still important expatriate American writers including Sylvia Beach Alfred Kreyborg Samuel Putnam and Harold Stearns By bringing together the self reflective works of the Lost Generation and probing the ways the writers portrayed themselves Monk provides an exciting and comprehensive overview of modernist expatriates from the United States The Hemingway Review ,1982 The Cumulative Book Index ,1928 A world list of books in the English language General Judaica Bloch Publishing Company,1929 The Professor's Green Card Marriage Heidi Cullinan,2020-02-18 I ll marry you Professor Valentyn Shevchenko isn t sure how to react when after months of ineffective flirting the cute barista s first words to him are a proposal In many ways Peter Grunberg is the solution to all his problems With his work visa inexplicably denied Valentyn is running out of options to keep from being deported But is a green card marriage really the answer Is it still a marriage of convenience when he s this attracted to his potential spouse Peter came to his uncle s coffee shop in Boulder Colorado to reset his life after his struggles with selective mutism returned with a vengeance He never meant his first words to the handsome ecology professor to be an offer of marriage but he s not backing out now It doesn't matter that Peter struggles to find words He can say everything he needs to with his body Though this relationship may have started out back to front Valentyn and Peter are determined to make their fake marriage real But one misstep in their immigration interview could bring everything crashing down They'll have to hope that their love is enough to overcome all their obstacles and give them the prize they've both been dreaming of a certified happy ever after
