

They Say I Say: Chapter 1+2 Key Points

- A writer must not only state the thesis, but also what the thesis is responding to. (Context)
- Pay Attention to order when writing; start with what others are saying, then introduce your own ideas/opinions.
- Continue to remind reader of the author's argument as you explain your own.
- Ways to introduce what others are saying (Author): "It has become common to dismiss", "In their recent work Y and Z have offered harsh critiques of ____".
- Ways to introduce an ongoing debate: "In discussions of X, one controversial issue has been _____. On the other hand, _____ argues _____. My own view is _____".
- Balance original authors ideas with your own.
- Without a good balance of ideas and background the argument has no power.
- Summarization of what you are responding to is important.
- Balance your summary so your reader can form their own opinion on the source, without having to read it.
- Do not allow your own views and opinions to come through when summarizing their arguments.
