Things Irish:

Seeing Things Alice McIntyre, 2011-11-08 In an effort to address her obsession with worrying about people ten year old Trina decides to invent an object she calls the Thing Whenever Trina starts becoming overly concerned about someone she opens the top of her magical box peeks inside and hopes that everything she sees will make her feel all right But one night everything is not all right While looking in the Thing Trina sees her older sister involved in a deadly car crash Suddenly Trina is left trying to make sense of events that are difficult for her to understand her sisters death her alcoholic father her overworked mother and her relationship with a God that would let bad things happen to good people The tragedy that befalls her family teaches Trina how to survive disappointment and loss with humor love and a belief in second chances The Irish Homestead ,1912 Exaptation and Language Change Muriel Norde, Freek Van de Velde, 2016-02-24 This volume is the first collection of papers that is exclusively dedicated to the concept of exaptation a notion from evolutionary biology that was famously introduced into linguistics by Roger Lass in 1990 The past quarter century has seen a heated debate on the properties of linguistic exaptation its demarcation from other processes of linguistic change and indeed the question of whether it is a useful concept in historical linguistics at all The contributions in the present volume reflect these diverging points of view Along with a comprehensive introduction covering the history of the notion of exaptation from its conception in the field of biology to its adoption in linguistics the book offers extensive discussion of the concept from various theoretical perspectives detailed case studies as well as critical reviews of some stock examples The book will be of interest to scholars working in the fields of evolutionary linguistics historical linguistics and the history of linguistics The Transformation Of Ireland 1900-2000 Diarmaid Ferriter, 2010-07-09 A ground breaking history of the twentieth century in Ireland written on the most ambitious scale by a brilliant young historian It is significant that it begins in 1900 and ends in 2000 most accounts have begun in 1912 or 1922 and largely ignored the end of the century Politics and political parties are examined in detail but high politics does not dominate the book which rather sets out to answer the question What was it like to grow up and live in 20th century Ireland It deals with the North in a comprehensive way focusing on the social and cultural aspects not just the obvious political and religious divisions The Hub Thomas H. O'Connor, 2001 Filled with local events as well as intriguing characters this engaging account vividly captures the spirit and soul of Boston both yesterday and today BOOK JACKET Things Irish Anthony Bluett, 1994 An amusing and informative account of a wide variety of things which are traditionally associated with Ireland New Outlook ,1916 Saturday Review ,1867 A Short History of Ireland from the Earliest Times to 1608 Patrick Weston Joyce, 1893 The American Mercury Henry Louis Mencken, 1929 Truth ,1885 Debating Authenticity Thomas Fillitz, A. Jamie Saris, 2012-12-01 The longing for authenticity on an individual or collective level connects the search for external expressions to internal orientations What is largely referred to as production of authenticity is a reformulation of cultural values and norms within the ongoing process of modernity impacted by globalization and contemporary transnational cultural flows This collection interrogates the notion of authenticity from an anthropological point of view and considers authenticity in terms of how meaning is produced in and through discourses about authenticity Incorporating case studies from four continents the topics reach from art and colonialism to exoticism primitivism film ritual and wilderness Some contributors emphasise the dichotomy between the academic use of the term and the one deployed in public spaces and political projects All however consider authenticity as something that can only be understood ethnographically and not as a simple characteristic or category used to distinguish some behaviors experiences or material things from other less authentic versions
