Soft War:

Free Expression, Globalism, and the New Strategic Communication Monroe E. Price, 2014-12-15 Vast changes in technologies and geopolitics have produced a wholesale shift in the way states and other powerful entities think about the production and retention of popular loyalties Strategic communication has embraced these changes as stakes increase and the techniques of information management become more pervasive These shifts in strategic communications impact free speech as major players in a global context rhetorically embrace a world of transparency all the while increasing surveillance and modes of control turning altered media technologies and traditional media doctrines to their advantage This book exposes the anxieties of loss of control on the one hand and the missed opportunities for greater freedom on the other New strategic communication arises from the vast torrents of information that cross borders and uproot old forms of regulation Not only states but also corporations nongovernmental organizations religious institutions and others have become part of this new constellation of speakers and audiences Electronic Iran Niki Akhavan, 2013-12-25 Electronic Iran introduces the concept of the Iranian Internet a framework that captures interlinked transnational networks of virtual and offline spaces Taking her cues from early Internet ethnographies that stress the importance of treating the Internet as both a site and product of cultural production accounts in media studies that highlight the continuities between old and new media and a range of works that have made critical interventions in the field of Iranian studies Niki Akhavan traces key developments and confronts conventional wisdom about digital media in general and contemporary Iranian culture and politics in particular Akhavan focuses largely on the years between 1998 and 2012 to reveal a diverse and combative virtual landscape where both geographically and ideologically dispersed individuals and groups deployed Internet technologies to variously construct defend and challenge narratives of Iranian national identity society and politics While it tempers celebratory claims that have dominated assessments of the Iranian Internet Electronic Iran is ultimately optimistic in its outlook As it exposes and assesses overlooked aspects of the Iranian Internet the book sketches a more complete map of its dynamic landscape and suggests that the transformative powers of digital media can only be developed and understood if attention is paid to both the specificities of new technologies as well as the local and transnational contexts in which they appear Online Arab Spring Reza Jamali, 2014-12-03 What is the role of social media on fundamental change in Arab countries in the Middle East and North Africa Online Arab Spring responds to this question considering five countries Egypt Libya Jordan Yemen and Tunisia along with additional examples The book asks why the penetration rate for social media differs in different countries are psychological and social factors at play Each chapter considers national identity the legitimacy crisis social capital information and media literacy and socialization Religious attitudes are introduced as a key factor in social media with Arabic countries in the Middle East and North Africa being characterized by Islamic trends The insight gained will be helpful for analysing online social media effects internationally and predicting future movements in a social context provides innovative interdisciplinary research incorporating media studies cultural aspects identity and psychology presents a detailed study of factors such as national heritage cultural homogeneity belief system and consumer ethnocentrism focuses on religious attitudes in the context of online media
