Writing Africa in the Short Story Ernest Emenyonu,2013 The success of the Caine Prize for African Writing and the growth of online publishing have played key roles in putting the short story in its rightful place within the study and criticism of African literature African writers have much more than the critics recognized the beauty and potency of the short story Always the least studied in African literature classrooms and the most critically overlooked genre in African literature today the African short story is now given the attention it deserves Contributors here take a close look at the African short story to re define its own peculiar pedigree chart its trajectory critique its present state and examine its creative possibilities They examine how the short story and the novel complement each other or exist in contradistinction within the context of culture and politics history and public memory legends myths and folklore Ernest Emenyonu is Professor of Africana Studies at the University of Michigan Flint USA the editorial board is composed of scholars from US UK and African universities Nigeria HEBN Presidential Campaigning in the Internet Age Jennifer Stromer-Galley,2019 As the plugged in presidential campaign has arguably reached maturity Presidential Campaigning in the Internet Age challenges popular claims about the democratizing effect of Digital Communication Technologies DCTs Analyzing campaign strategies structures and tactics from the past six presidential election cycles Stromer Galley reveals how for all their vaunted inclusivity and tantalizing promise of increased two way communication between candidates and the individuals who support them DCTs have done little to change the fundamental dynamics of campaigns The expansion of new technologies has presented candidates with greater opportunities to micro target potential voters cheaper and easier ways to raise money and faster and more innovative ways to respond to opponents The need for communication control and management however has made campaigns slow and loathe to experiment with truly interactive internet communication technologies Citizen involvement in the campaign historically has been and as this book shows continues to be a means to an end winning the election for the candidate For all the proliferation of apps to download polls to click videos to watch and messages to forward the decidedly undemocratic view of controlled interactivity is how most campaigns continue to operate In the fully revised second edition Presidential Campaigning in the Internet Age examines election cycles from 1996 when the World Wide Web was first used for presidential campaigning through 2016 when campaigns had the full power of advertising on social media sites As the book charts changes in internet communication technologies it shows how even as campaigns have moved from a mass mediated to a networked paradigm the possibilities these shifts in interactivity seem to promise for citizen input and empowerment remain farther than a click away
