Tsunekawa, Guobin Liu, Norikazu Yamanaka, Sheng Du, 2013-08-23 This book presents state of the art scientific evidence and technological innovations to restore lands on the Loess Plateau of China known worldwide for its serious land degradation and desertification problems Supported by a rapidly developing Chinese economy and the dissemination of effective technology the Grain for Green Project and Western Development Action launched by the Chinese government have resulted in successful ecological restoration and protection over the past 30 years These programs have contributed not only to conservation of soil and water but also to economic development At the same time however these developmental interventions have brought new challenges that have not yet been fully addressed The book describes 1 case studies of success and failure in practice including rare success stories of combating desertification 2 technical issues such as erosion control and breeding of stress tolerant plant species and socioeconomic measures taken by the Chinese government and lending policies with support from the World Bank and 3 comprehensive measures against desertification such as water and wind erosion salinization and deforestation This volume is recommended for researchers and students above the undergraduate level in diverse fields including soil science rural engineering social technology and civil engineering biology ecology climatology physical and human geography and developmental economics among others It also serves as a valuable resource for engineers government officials and NPOs and NGOs involved in afforestation ecological restoration combating desertification disaster prevention and sustainable rural development      Naked Seeing Christopher Hatchell, 2014

Buddhism is in many ways a visual tradition with its well known practices of visualization its visual arts its epistemological writings that discuss the act of seeing and its literature filled with images and metaphors of light Some Buddhist traditions are also visionary advocating practices by which meditators seek visions that arise before their eyes Naked Seeing investigates such practices in the context of two major esoteric traditions the Wheel of Time Kalacakra and the Great Perfection Dzogchen Both of these experimented with sensory deprivation and developed yogas involving long periods of dwelling in dark rooms or gazing at the open sky These produced unusual experiences of seeing which were used to pursue some of the classic Buddhist questions about appearances emptiness and the nature of reality Along the way these practices gave rise to provocative ideas and suggested that rather than being apprehended through internal insight religious truths might also be seen in the exterior world realized through the gateway of the eyes Christopher Hatchell presents the intellectual and literary histories of these practices and also explores the meditative techniques and physiology that underlie their distinctive visionary experiences The book also offers for the first time complete English translations of three major Tibetan texts on visionary practice a Kalacakra treatise by Yumo Mikyo Dorj The Lamp Illuminating Emptiness a Nyingma Great Perfection work called The Tantra of the Blazing Lamps and a B n Great Perfection work called Advice on the Six
