reviews represents the most significant and comprehensive writing on Shakespeare's A Comedy of Errors. Miola's edited work also features a comprehensive critical history coupled with a full bibliography and photographs of major productions of the play from around the world. In the collection there are five previously unpublished essays. The topics covered in these new essays are women in the play, the play's debt to contemporary theater, its critical and performance histories in Germany and Japan, the metrical variety of the play, and the distinctly modern perspective on the play as containing dark and disturbing elements. To compliment these new essays, the collection features significant scholarship and commentary on The Comedy of Errors that is published in obscure and difficult-to-accessible journals, newspapers, and other sources. This collection brings together these essays for the first time.

The Alchemist in Literature Theodore Ziolkowski, 2015. Unlike most other studies of alchemy and literature which focus on alchemical imagery in poetry of specific periods or writers, this book traces the figure of the alchemist in Western literature from its first appearance in the Eighth Circle of Dante's Inferno down to the present. From the beginning, alchemy has had two aspects: exoteric or operative, the transmutation of baser metals into gold; and esoteric or speculative, the spiritual transformation of the alchemist himself. From Dante to Ben Jonson during the centuries when the belief in exoteric alchemy was still strong and exploited by many charlatans to deceive the gullible, writers in major works of many literatures treated alchemists with ridicule in an effort to expose their tricks. From the Renaissance to the Enlightenment, as that belief weakened, the figure of the alchemist disappeared, even though Protestant poets in England and Germany were still fond of alchemical images. But when eighteenth-century science almost wholly undermined alchemy, the figure of the alchemist began to emerge again in literature, now as a humanitarian hero or as a spirit striving for sublimation. Following these esoteric romanticizations, as scholarly interest in alchemy intensified, writers were attracted to the figure of the alchemist and his quest for power. The fin de siècle saw a further transformation, as poets saw in the alchemist a symbol for the poet per se, and others influenced by the prevailing spiritism as a manifestation of the religious spirit. During the interwar years, as writers sought surrogates for the widespread loss of religious faith, esoteric alchemy underwent a pronounced revival, and many writers turned to the figure of the alchemist as a spiritual model, or in the case of Paracelsus in Germany, as a national figurehead. This tendency, theorized by C. G. Jung in several major studies, inspired after World War II a vast popularization of the figure in novels, historical set in the present or juxtaposing past and present in England, France, Germany, Italy, Brazil, and the United States. The inevitable result of this popularization was the trivialization of the figure in advertisements for healing and cooking, or in articles about scientists and economists. In sum, the figure of the alchemist in literature provides a seismograph for major shifts in intellectual and cultural history.

Early Modern Histories of Time Kristen Poole, Owen Williams, 2019-09-13. Early Modern Histories of Time examines how a range of chronological modes intrinsic to the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries shaped the thought worlds of those living during this time and explores how these temporally indigenous models can productively influence our own working concepts of historical period This innovative approach thus moves beyond debates about where we should divide linear time and what to call the ensuing segments to reconsider the very concept of period Bringing together an eminent cast of literary scholars and historians the volume develops productive historical models by drawing on the very texts and cultural contexts that are their objects of study What happens to the idea of period when English literature is properly placed within the dynamic currents of pan European literary phenomena How might we think of historical period through the palimpsested nature of buildings through the religious concept of the secular through the demographic model of the life cycle even through the repetitive labor of laundering From theology to material culture to the temporal constructions of Shakespeare and from the politics of space to the poetics of typology the essays in this volume take up diverse complex models of sixteenth and seventeenth century temporality and contemplate their current relevance for our own ideas of history The volume thus embraces the ambiguity inherent in the word contemporary moving between our subjects sense of self emplacement and the historiographical need to address the questions and concerns that affect us today Contributors Douglas Bruster Euan Cameron Heather Dubrow Kate Giles Tim Harris Natasha Korda Julia Reinhard Lupton Kristen Poole Ethan H Shagan James Simpson Nigel Smith Mihoko Suzuki Gordon Teskey Julianne Werlin Owen Williams Steven N Zwicker
