Creative Writing Pedagogies for the Twenty-First Century Alexandria Peary, Tom C Hunley, 2015-06-25 The creative writing workshop beloved by some dreaded by others and ubiquitous in writing programs across the nation For decades the workshop has been entrenched as the primary pedagogy of creative writing While the field of creative writing studies has sometimes myopically focused on this single method the related discipline of composition studies has made use of numerous pedagogical models In Creative Writing Pedagogies for the Twenty First Century editors Alexandria Peary and Tom C Hunley gather experts from both creative writing and composition studies to offer innovative alternatives to the traditional creative writing workshop Drawing primarily from the field of composition studies a discipline rich with a wide range of established pedagogies the contributors in this volume build on previous models to present fresh and inventive methods for the teaching of creative writing Each chapter offers both a theoretical and a historical background for its respective pedagogical ideas as well as practical applications for use in the classroom This myriad of methods can be used either as a supplement to the customary workshop model or as stand alone roadmaps to engage and reinvigorate the creative process for both students and teachers alike A fresh and inspiring collection of teaching methods Creative Writing Pedagogies for the Twenty First Century combines both conventional and cutting edge techniques to expand the pedagogical possibilities in creative writing studies

Write Or Wrong? Maureen Freely, Robert Hampson, Linda R. Anderson, 2005 Critical Literacy and the Aesthetic Ray Misson, Wendy Morgan, 2006 Ray Misson and Wendy Morgan address the role of aesthetics in an age of postmodern criticism showing how critical literacy and the aesthetic are reconcilable in literary theory and practice Why does critical literacy often feel uncomfortable with aesthetic texts like poetry In this provocative book Ray Misson and Wendy Morgan proponents of critical literacy in their home country of Australia develop an understanding of the aesthetic in current poststructuralist terms and the role that the aesthetic might play in a critical literacy classroom Throughout the book their belief remains strong that poststructuralism provides the best framework we have for understanding texts and their relationship to human society and identity To demonstrate how the conjunction of critical literacy and the aesthetic can transform English classrooms the authors draw examples from various genres media and countries including poetry by Donne Shakespeare Robert Lowell and Les Murray To Kill a Mockingbird an episode of Friends and even one chapter using only the example of Huckleberry Finn The authors reconfigure critical literacy so that it can give proper consideration to the aesthetic which involves paying attention to such things as individual identity human emotion creativity and the value and productivity of texts Acknowledging these things within critical literacy is vital As Misson and Morgan emphasize it is one of the greatest pleasures and responsibilities of being an English teacher that we work critically and creatively with the aesthetic and its rich sense of human possibility

Outcomes Book Susanmarie Harrington, 2005-02-28 The WPA Outcomes Statement is important because it represents a working consensus among composition scholars about what college students should learn and do in a composition program But as a single page document the statement cannot convey the kind of reflective process that a writing program must undertake to address the learning outcomes described The Outcomes Book relates the fuller process by exploring the matrix of concerns that surrounded the developing Statement itself and by presenting the experience of many who have since employed it in their own settings

Picken, 2007-10-23 The value of work with literature has been argued for extensively in the applied linguistics literature The author builds on this by investigating the FL learner's perspective on work of this nature This empirical research sheds light both on how students deal with the challenge of making sense of literature in a foreign language and how they evaluate the experience of doing this The book highlights the
