The Carbon Cycle:

The Carbon Cycle Laura Loria,2017-12-15 Climate change is a hot topic but few readers understand exactly how it has disrupted Earth's natural cycles This text offers a straightforward explanation of the carbon cycle including what carbon is the places where it is found and how it is exchanged In addition readers will gain insight into how human activity affects the carbon cycle in nature Each chapter features charts or photographic illustrations to enhance comprehension as well as vocabulary boxes and open ended questions that invite readers to think critically about the topic The Carbon Cycle Bray Jacobson,2019-07-15 Life on Earth depends on carbon In fact about 18.5 percent of a human body's mass is carbon How carbon is taken in and given off through animals breathing the burning of fossil fuels and more can be shown in the model known as the carbon cycle Though this concept can be confusing all readers have a chance to understand this concept through the text and simple diagrams in this book Both struggling readers and those looking for review can find the most important components and vocabulary of the carbon cycle in low level accessible text The Carbon Age Eric Roston,2009-05-26 Carbon is the chemical scaffolding of life and civilization indeed the great cycle by which carbon moves through organisms ground water and atmosphere has long been a kind of global respiration system that helps keep Earth in balance And yet when we hear the word today it is more often than not in a crisis context Journalist Roston evokes this essential element from the Big Bang to modern civilization Charting the science of carbon how it was formed how it came to Earth he chronicles the often surprising ways mankind has used it over centuries and the growing catastrophe of the industrial era leading our current attempt to wrestle the Earth's geochemical cycle back from the brink Blending the latest science with original reporting Roston makes us aware of the seminal impact carbon has and has had on our lives From publisher description The Carbon Cycle Diane Dakers,2014-10-31 Readers will discover that the natural element carbon is found in all living things including people This fascinating book explains how the Earth's supply of carbon moves among Earth's oceans atmosphere ecosystem and geosphere in a process called the carbon cycle Accessible text and detailed images help explain such processes as photosynthesis respiration and decomposition Feature boxes highlight examples of the ways in which human activity such as burning fossil fuels releases too much carbon dioxide into the air disrupting the balance of the carbon cycle Readers are encouraged to find ways to take action and find solutions Investigating the Carbon Cycle Mary Lindeen,2015-08-01 Eye catching photos informative captions and succinct yet engaging text introduce young readers to the carbon cycle The Global Carbon Cycle Christopher B. Field,Michael R. Raupach,2012-09-26 While a number of gases are implicated in global warming carbon dioxide is the most important contributor and in one sense the entire phenomena can be seen as a human induced perturbation of the carbon cycle The Global Carbon Cycle offers a scientific assessment of the state of current knowledge of the carbon cycle by the world's leading scientists sponsored by SCOPE and the Global Carbon Project and other international partners It gives an introductory overview of the carbon cycle with multidisciplinary contributions covering biological physical and social science aspects Included are 29 chapters covering topics including an assessment of carbon climate human interactions a portfolio of carbon management options spatial and temporal distribution of sources and sinks of carbon dioxide socio economic driving forces of emissions scenarios Throughout contributors emphasize that all parts of the carbon cycle are interrelated and only by developing a framework that considers the full set of feedbacks will we be able to achieve a thorough understanding and develop effective management strategies

The Global Carbon Cycle edited by Christopher B Field and Michael R Raupach is part of the Rapid Assessment Publication series produced by the Scientific Committee on Problems of the Environment SCOPE in an effort to quickly disseminate the collective knowledge of the world's leading experts on topics of pressing environmental concern The Carbon Cycle Catherine Ipcizade,2018-08 All living things are made of carbon from plants to animals to people Breathe in the facts and learn how people are causing big changes to the carbon cycle Download the Capstone 4D app to access a variety of bonus content The Global Carbon Cycle and the Evolution of Photosynthesis Alexander A. Ivlev,2019-11-05 The book deals with the problem of the interaction and interconditionality of the various processes occurring in both the Earth's crust and the biosphere It proposes a model of the global carbon cycle explaining the nature and mechanism of these interactions showing that the key element of this interaction is the photosynthesis controlled by periodic carbon dioxide injections caused by collision zones of lithospheric plates Changes in the environment due to the evolution of photosynthesis cause alterations in the carbon cycle and lead to a stationary state when new features of the cycle are manifested The main instruments of the analysis here are the isotopic technique and physico chemical modeling conducted on the basis of the principle of actualism The model provides explanations of periodic mass extinctions of organisms the explosions of life the uneven distribution of organic matter in the sedimentary strata stratigraphic oil distribution and various other events in the biosphere in the course of geological history The book will appeal to geologists geochemists climatologists ecologists biologists and specialists in global change Human Interactions with the Carbon Cycle National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Committee on the Human Dimensions of Global Change,Paul C. Stern,2002-05-29 The USGCRP's Carbon Cycle Working Group asked the National Research Council's Committee on the Human Dimensions of Global Change to hold a workshop on Human Interactions with the Carbon Cycle The basic purpose of the workshop was to help build bridges between the research communities in the social sciences and the natural sciences that might eventually work together to produce the needed understanding of the carbon cycle an understanding that can inform public decisions that could among other things prevent disasters from resulting from the ways humanity has been altering the carbon cycle Members of the working group hoped that a successful workshop would improve communication between the relevant research communities in the natural and social sciences leading eventually to an expansion of the carbon cycle program element in directions that would better integrate the two domains The Carbon Cycle T. Schimel,2000-05-08 Reducing carbon dioxide CO2 emissions is imperative to stabilizing our future climate Our ability to reduce these emissions combined with an understanding of how much fossil fuel derived CO2 the oceans and plants can absorb is central to mitigating climate change In The Carbon Cycle leading scientists examine how atmospheric carbon dioxide concentrations have changed in the past and how this may affect the concentrations in the future They look at the carbon budget and the missing sink for carbon dioxide They offer approaches to modeling the carbon cycle providing mathematical tools for predicting future levels of carbon dioxide This comprehensive text incorporates findings from the recent IPCC reports New insights and a convergence of ideas and views across several disciplines make this book an important contribution to the global change literature

The Carbon Cycle Tyler Gieseke,2022-08 Every living thing is made of carbon This title presents the basics of the carbon cycle including how plants pull carbon out of the air how animals get carbon from plants and how all living things eventually return their carbon to the air QR Codes in the books give readers access to book specific resources to further their learning Aligned to Common Core Standards and correlated to state standards DiscoverRoo is an imprint of Pop a division of ABDO

Land Carbon Cycle Modeling Yiqi Luo,Benjamin Smith,2022-08-18 Carbon moves through the atmosphere through the oceans onto land and into ecosystems This cycling has a large effect on climate changing geographic patterns of rainfall and the frequency of extreme weather and is altered as the use of fossil fuels adds carbon to the cycle The dynamics of this global carbon cycling are largely predicted over broad spatial scales and long periods of time by Earth system models This book addresses the crucial question of how to assess evaluate and estimate the potential impact of the additional carbon to the land carbon cycle The contributors describe a set of new approaches to land carbon cycle modeling for better exploring ecological questions regarding changes in carbon cycling employing data assimilation techniques for model improvement and doing real or near time ecological forecasting for decision support This book strives to balance theoretical considerations technical details and applications of ecosystem modeling for research assessment and crucial decision making Key Features Helps readers understand implement and criticize land carbon cycle models Offers a new theoretical framework to understand transient dynamics of land carbon cycle Describes a suite of modeling skills matrix approach to represent land carbon nitrogen and phosphorus cycles data assimilation and machine learning to improve parameterization and workflow systems to facilitate ecological forecasting Introduces a new set of techniques such as semi analytic spin up SASU unified diagnostic system with a 1 3 5 scheme traceability analysis and benchmark analysis for model evaluation and improvement Related Titles Isabel Ferrera ed Climate Change and the Oceanic Carbon Cycle Variables and Consequences ISBN 978 1 774 63669 5 Lal R et al eds Soil Processes and the Carbon Cycle ISBN 978 0 8493 7441 8 Windham Myers L et al eds A Blue Carbon Primer The State of Coastal Wetland Carbon Science Practice and Policy ISBN 978 0 367 89352 1 of Springer's Major Reference Works this book gives the reader a truly global perspective. It is the first major reference work in its field. Paleoclimate topics covered in the encyclopedia give the reader the capability to place the observations of recent global warming in the context of longer term natural climate fluctuations. Significant elements of the encyclopedia include recent developments in paleoclimate modeling, paleo-ocean circulation, as well as the influence of geological processes and biological feedbacks on global climate change. The encyclopedia gives the reader an entry point into the literature on these and many other groundbreaking topics.

Biology Coloring Workbook I. Edward Alcamo, 1998. Following in the successful footsteps of the Anatomy and the Physiology Coloring Workbook, The Princeton Review introduces two new coloring workbooks to the line. Each book features 125 plates of computer-generated state-of-the-art precise original artwork perfect for students enrolled in allied health and nursing courses, psychology and neuroscience, and elementary biology and anthropology courses.

The Ocean Carbon Cycle and Climate Mick Follows, Temel Oguz, 2004-08-03. Our desire to understand the global carbon cycle and its link to the climate system represents a huge challenge. These overarching questions have driven a great deal of scientific endeavour in recent years: What are the basic oceanic mechanisms which control the oceanic carbon reservoirs and the partitioning of carbon between ocean and atmosphere? How do these mechanisms depend on the state of the climate system and how does the carbon cycle feed back on climate? What is the current rate at which fossil fuel carbon dioxide is absorbed by the oceans and how might this change in the future? To begin to answer these questions we must first understand the distribution of carbon in the ocean, its partitioning between different ocean reservoirs, the solubility and biological pumps of carbon, the mechanisms controlling these reservoirs, and the relationship of the significant physical and biological processes to the physical environment. The recent surveys from the JGOFS and WOCE Joint Global Ocean Flux Study and World Ocean Circulation Experiment programs have given us a first truly global survey of the physical and biogeochemical properties of the ocean. These new high-quality data provide the opportunity to better quantify the present oceans' reservoirs of carbon and the changes due to fossil fuel burning. In addition, diverse process studies and time series observations have clearly revealed the complexity of interactions between nutrient cycles, ecosystems, the carbon cycle, and the physical environment.

The Carbon Cycle Suzanne Slade, 2007-01-01. Introduces the carbon cycle and how it works, discussing what carbon is, why living things need it, its two paths, fossil fuels, and the effect that humans have on the cycle.

Encyclopedia of global warming and climate change S. George Philander, 2008-04-22. This is a collection of approximately 750 articles exploring major topics related to global warming and climate change, ranging geographically from the North Pole to the South Pole and thematically from social effects to scientific cause. It also covers industrial and economic factors, the role of societies, and much more.

Global Carbon Cycle and Climate Change Kirill I. Kovalovich, Kondrat'ev, Vladimir F. Krapivin, Costas Varotsos, 2003-09-24. Professor Kondratyev and his team consider the concept of global warming due to the greenhouse effect and put forward a new approach to the problem of assessing the impact of anthropogenic processes Considering data on both sources and sinks for atmospheric carbon and various conceptual schemes of the global carbon dioxide cycle they suggest a new approach to studies of the problem of the greenhouse effect They assess the role of different types of soil and vegetation in the assimilation of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and discuss models of the atmosphere ocean gas exchange and its role in the carbon dioxide cycle paying special attention to the role of the Arctic Basin The authors also consider models of other global atmospheric cycles for a range of atmospheric constituents and conclude by drawing together a range of scenarios on modelling the global carbon cycle
