The Generation Of Diversity

The Generation Of Diversity:

The Generation of Diversity Alfred I. Tauber, Scott H. Podolsky, 2000 This book is an intellectual history of the major theoretical problem in immunology and its resolution in the post World War II period In recent years immunology has been one of the most exciting and successful fields of biomedical research this book provides essential background for understanding the conceptual conflicts occurring in the field

Generational Diversity at Work Emma Parry, 2017-09-29 Over the past decade much attention has been paid to the apparent differences in consumption preferences or workplace attitudes and behaviours across generations Within Western economies such as the USA UK and Australia it is commonly assumed that there are now four generations in the workplace namely Veterans born 1925 1942 Baby Boomers 1943 1960 Generation X 1961 1981 and Generation Y 1982 2000 The concept of generational differences at work is one that has recently been adopted by practitioners as a basis on which to design human resource management and career management practices However there has been some concern in academic circles about the validity of the notion of generations and the evidence base that supports it There is therefore a need for new perspectives and methodological approaches to investigating generational differences at work in order to establish the validity and value of generations as an axis of diversity

Generational Diversity at Work New Research Perspectives will address this need by presenting and discussing research into generational diversity that adopts a range of new theoretical perspectives or methodological approaches This book is designed as a first step in addressing the need to critically examine the theoretical and empirical basis for generational differences and to provide some new empirical data in this area

Beyond Generational Differences: Bridging Gender and Generational Diversity at Work. , The Principle of Diversity Axel Tiessen Favier, 2004 Biological and economical systems have many aspects in common because they follow the same basic principles of evolution One of the most precious messages from the field of biology is to admire and value the diversity of our planet The Principle of Diversity is a scientific and philosophical analysis that combines theoretical and practical insights of the phenomena occurring in both biology and economics Accordingly good business administration is only possible with full knowledge of The Magic Triangle of the Economy

A Case Study of Zambia Compulsory Standards Agency Michael Mulenga, 2019-08-28 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2019 in the subject Leadership and Human Resources Miscellaneous language English abstract The purpose of the study was to determine the impact of age and gender diversity on employee performance in an organisation A descriptive research design was adopted with Zambia Compulsory Standards

Agency ZCSA being the focus organisation The target population comprised a total of 103 employees from various units of the institution Stratified random sampling technique was used to draw a sample size of 50 respondents from various hierarchical levels The main data collection instruments were an open and close ended questionnaire and an interview guide A set of descriptive statistics including frequencies percentages the mean and standard deviation were used to generate tables bar graphs and pie charts to present the results of the study using SPSS version18 The key findings of the study were that both age and gender diversity have a bearing on the performance of an employee and ultimately on the organisation Findings show that employees felt comfortable working with either older or younger employees Others felt positive about being involved in teams that consist of employees with varying ages as this improves their performance The study found that gender diversity has a high predictive power on employee performance On the other hand organisations that create an inclusive environment for all employees irrespective of gender and create policies that eliminate discrimination from the workplace can benefit from gender diversity A significant relationship between gender diversity and work performance has shown that employees like to work with the opposite gender so long as they can carry out their job professionally The study concluded that age diversity is a very crucial resource for firms that intend to have sustainable workforce It also argues that gender diversity is a vital factor for organisational performance The study findings show that age diversity is a very crucial resource for organisations that intend to maintain a sustainable workforce By allowing the establishment of a leadership pipeline age diversity not only facilitates the creation of a pool of competent employees but allows the organisation to sustain its way of doing business including best practices
