The Secret Garden Frances Hodgson Burnett,2011-08-05 Mary Lennox is born in India to British parents She is unwanted by her mother and taken care of primarily by servants who pacify her as much as possible to keep her out of the way Spoiled and with a temper she is unaffectionate angry and rude A cholera breakout in the manor kills her parents and many servants and she is discovered alone but alive after the house is abandoned She is sent to England to live with her Uncle Archibald Craven At first Mary is her usual self and is sour disliking the large house the people within and most of all the vast stretch of moor which seems scrubby and gray after the winter She is told that she must stay to her two rooms and that nobody will bother much with her and she must amuse herself Martha Sowerby her good natured maidservant tells Mary a story of the late Mrs Craven and how she would spend hours in a private garden growing roses an untimely accident kills her and Mr Craven has the garden locked and the key buried Mary is roused by this story and starts to soften her ill manner despite herself Soon she begins to lose her disposition and gradually comes to enjoy the company of Martha Ben Weatherstaff the gardener and also that of a friendly robin redbreast to whom she attaches human qualities Her appetite increases and she finds herself getting stronger as she plays by herself on the moor Martha s mother buys Mary a skipping rope in order to expedite this and she takes to it immediately Mary s time is occupied by wondering about the secret garden and a strange crying that can sometimes be heard around the house which the servants ignore or deny While skipping around the walls housing the various gardens Mary comes across a badger hole and finds a key Thinking it must be to the door of the secret garden she spends days wandering around the outside wall looking for the door Finally by chance she finds it and steps inside the garden nobody has tended for over ten years She chances to ask Martha if she can have some garden tools and Martha suggests that Dickon her twelve year old brother deliver them Mary and Dickon meet and immediately take a liking to each other as Dickon has a soft way with animals and a good nature Eager to absorb his gardening knowledge she reluctantly lets him into the secret of the garden which he agrees to keep That night Mary hears the crying again She follows the noise and to her surprise finds a small boy her age thin and weak They introduce each other and she finds out her uncle has a son Colin Colin is in deep fear of becoming a hunchback and for years has heard whispers of him dying and he s come to believe it Mary quickly convinces him otherwise and visits almost every day that week distracting him from his troubles with stories of the moor of Dickon and his animals and of the garden though she doesn t admit that she s found it yet When he throws a tantrum after she refuses to be ordered by him she throws his attitude back and surprises him out of his fit They reconcile and it is decided what he needs is fresh air and the secret garden which Mary finally admits she has access to Colin is put into his chair and brought outside into the garden the first time he s been outdoors in years While in the garden the children are surprised to see Ben Weatherstaff looking over the wall on a ladder Startled and angry to find the kids there in his late mistress garden he starts to yell at Mary when he notices Colin Taken completely by surprise he accidentally lets slip that he thought Colin was a cripple with a hunch back and twisted legs Colin stands out of his chair to prove him wrong and finds that his legs are fine though weak from misuse
