To Hatred Turned:

To Hatred Turned Ken Englade, 2014-12-09 Englade Beyond Reason here treats a complex Dallas murder case with a master's touch. A web of blackmail and hired killers. Publishers Weekly Reporter Ken Englade explores the complex case of Rozanne Gailunas, a woman in Texas who in 1983 was the victim of a grisly unsolved murder. Her married boyfriend Larry Aylor was questioned but there wasn't enough evidence to tie him to the crime. It looked like this murder would go unsolved. Then in 1988 an unexpected source tipped police off and set in motion a twisted story of family betrayal and murder for hire. Englade brings every shocking detail to light in unraveling this complex tale, weaving together a spellbinding narrative of a family willing to kill to get what it wants and a trial that brought them to justice.

Love and Hate David Mann, 2013-11-12 Love and hate seem to be the dominant emotions that make the world go round and are a central theme in psychotherapy. Love and Hate seeks to answer some important questions about these all-consuming passions. Many patients seeking psychotherapy feel unlovable or full of rage and hate. What is it that interferes with the capacity to experience love? This book explores the origins of love and hate from infancy and how they develop through the life cycle. It brings together contemporary views about clinical practice on how psychotherapists and analysts work with and think about love and hate in the transference and countertransference and explores how different schools of thought deal with the subject. David Mann together with an impressive array of international contributors represent a broad spectrum of psychoanalytic perspectives including Kleinian, Jungian, Independent Group, and Lacanian psychotherapists, psychoanalysts, and analytical psychologists. With emphasis on clinical illustration throughout, the writers show how different psychoanalytic schools think about and clinically work with the experience and passions of love and hate. It will be invaluable to practitioners and students of psychotherapy, psychoanalysis, analytical psychology, and counselling.
