Processes and Prior Knowledge Menucha Birenbaum, F. Dochy, 2012-12-06 Achievement assessment has undergone a major shift from what some call a culture of testing to a culture of assessment Nowadays a strong emphasis is placed on the integration of assessment and instruction on assessing processes rather than just products and on evaluating individual progress relative to each student's starting point This book addresses assessment issues in light of the present state of affairs The first part discusses new alternatives in the assessment of achievement in various subject areas focusing on agenda practice impact and evaluation of the assessment The second part deals with issues related to assessment of the learning process specifically questions concerning the assessment of individual differences in prior knowledge learning skills and strategies

Language, Capital, Culture, 2007-01-01 Singapore has been taken by many researchers as a fascinating living language policy and planning laboratory Language and education policy in Singapore has been pivotal not only to the establishment and growth of schooling but to the very project of nation building Since their inception mother tongue policies have been established with two explicit goals Firstly there is the development and training of human and intellectual capital for the expansion and networking of a Singaporean service and information economy Secondly there is the maintenance of cultural heritage and values as a means for social cohesion and indeed the maintenance of community and regional social capital These tasks have been fraught with tension and contradiction both in relation to the conditions of rapid cultural economic and political change in Asia and globally but as well because of the tensions between the so called world language English and Singapore's three other official languages Tamil Malay and Mandarin This has been complicated of course by the challenges of vibrant regional dialects and the emergence of Singlish as a powerful medium of community life
