Truth About Fiction:

Truth, Fiction, and Literature Peter Lamarque, 1994 This book examines the complex and varied ways in which fictions relate to the real world and offers a precise account of how imaginative works of literature can use fictional content to explore matters of universal human interest

Language, Truth, and Literature Richard Gaskin, 2013-04-18 Richard Gaskin offers an original defence of literary humanism according to which works of imaginative literature have an objective meaning which is fixed at the time of production and not subject to individual readers responses He shows that the appreciation of literature is a cognitive activity fully on a par with scientific investigation

Fictional Narrative and Truth L. B. Cebik, 1984 Focuses on the debate over whether it is possible to derive significant truths from fictional literature Analyzes the concepts of fiction and narrative in a way that allows thorough epistemic evaluations of claims that truth can emerge from fictional narratives Topics discussed include the analysis of truth in literature descriptions of fiction analyzing fiction fictional characters truth in fiction narrative generalizations language and structure interpretation and criticism the limits of fiction and fictional narratives and the creation of new truths Suitable for upper level and graduate students of philosophy and literature

The Character of Truth Naomi Jacobs, 1990 Can the novel survive in an age when tales of historical figures and contemporary personalities dominate the reading lists of the book buying public Naomi Jacobs addresses this question in a study of writers such as William Styron E L Doctorow and Robert Coover who challenge the dominance of nonfiction by populating their fictions with real people living and dead Jacobs explores the genesis varieties and implications of this trend in a prose as lively as that of the writers she critiques Using as a case study Robert Coover's portrait of Richard Nixon in The Public Burning Jacobs addresses the important legal and ethical questions raised by this trend and applies contemporary libel law to the fictionalization of living people such as Richard Nixon She closes her study by speculating on the future of this device and of the novel

Philosophy of Literature Christopher New, 1999 Literature like the visual arts poses its own philosophical problems While literary theorists have discussed the nature of literature intensively analytic philosophers have usually dealt with literary problems either within the general framework of aesthetics or else in a way that is accessible only to a philosophical audience The present book is unique in that it introduces the philosophy of literature from an analytic perspective accessible to both students of literature and students of philosophy Specifically the book addresses the definition of literature the distinction between oral and written literature and the identity of literary works the nature of fiction and our emotional involvement with fictional characters the concept of imagination and its role in the apprehension of literary works theories of metaphor and postmodernist theory on the significance of the authors intentions to the interpretation of their work an examination of the relevance of truth and morality to literary appreciation Lucid and well organised and free from jargon hilosophy of Literature An Introduction offers fresh approaches to traditional problems and raises new issues in the philosophy of literature

Truth in Fiction

John Woods,2018-02-23 This monograph examines truth in fiction by applying the techniques of a naturalized logic of human cognitive practices The author structures his project around two focal questions What would it take to write a book about truth in literary discourse with reasonable promise of getting it right What would it take to write a book about truth in fiction as true to the facts of lived literary experience as objectivity allows It is argued that the most semantically distinctive feature of the sentences of fiction is that they are unambiguously true and false together It is true that Sherlock Holmes lived at 221B Baker Street and also concurrently false that he did A second distinctive feature of fiction is that the reader at large knows of this inconsistency and isn't in the least cognitively molested by it Why it is asked would this be so What would explain it Two answers are developed According to the no contradiction thesis the semantically tangled sentences of fiction are indeed logically inconsistent but not logically contradictory According to the no bother thesis if the inconsistencies of fiction were contradictory a properly contrived logic for the rational management of inconsistency would explain why readers at large are not thrown off cognitive stride by their embrace of those contradictions As developed here the account of fiction suggests the presence of an underlying three or four valued dialethic logic The author shows this to be a mistaken impression There are only two truth values in his logic of fiction The naturalized logic of Truth in Fiction jettisons some of the standard assumptions and analytical tools of contemporary philosophy chiefly because the neurotypical linguistic and cognitive behaviour of humanity at large is at variance with them Using the resources of a causal response epistemology in tandem with the naturalized logic the theory produced here is data driven empirically sensitive and open to a circumspect collaboration with the empirical sciences of language and cognition
