Valerie Belin:

Valérie Belin, 2019 Valérie Belin Valérie Belin, 2000 Valérie Belin cherche à viter l'anecdote de la forme et à pénétrer au cœur des choses. Ses photographies d'objets en verre réalisés à Venise ou les miroirs pris dans des magasins de décoration constituent l'aboutissement de cette recherche. Elle s'intéresse aussi à la problématique du corps, les robes de mariée comme les pavés de voiture.

Valérie Belin Larisa Dryansky, Galerie Jérôme de Noirmont, 2008 Valérie Belin Valérie Belin, 2016 Valérie Belin constantly explores matter, the body and the living, absence and their representations; she brilliantly develops her research on light, detail and texture. After a first volume released in 2007, Damiani now presents her subsequent work with series produced between 2007 and 2016: Fruit Baskets, Lido, Ballroom, Dancers, Vintage Cars, Crowned heads, Black-eyed Susan, Settings, Brides, Bob Interiors and Still Life, as well as her most recent and original series All Star. The volume also comprises exhibition views and photographs taken during her performance at the Centre Pompidou in 2014. An immersion into a rare and unusual body of work that brilliantly questions matter and the living through the photographic medium. Photography of confusion and absence.

Valérie Belin: Complete Work Valérie Belin, Régis Durand, Huis Marseille (Amsterdam, Netherlands), Musée de l'Élysée (Lausanne, Switzerland), Maison européenne de la photographie (Paris, France), 2007 Valérie Belin's photographs avoid simple representation or description, even though she often chooses to photograph simple objects such as glasses, silverware, Venetian mirrors, cars or animal carcasses. Instead, she is attempting to unveil the very essence of her subjects and to delve into the deepest secrets of things of matter and of light, almost independent of the objects themselves. This comprehensive retrospective of Belin's work also includes all her other suites: her questioning of corporeality in her explicit studies of bodybuilders, the series of Moroccan brides which broach complex issues of identity and representation, and her investigations of hybrid entities such as transsexuals, Michael Jackson look-alikes and the mannequins in shop windows.

Valerie Belin, Valérie Belin Valérie Belin, 2011 I come from painting. It is not surprising that Valerie Belin should describe her work as coming from painting, for it would be curious indeed to call her a photographer. Although she uses a photographer's equipment, her masterful control of the technique enables her to transcend the imprint of reality and preclude reference to the world. Belin tells us nothing about the circumstances out there; she offers no evidence, she advances no arguments and makes no comments. She takes the world and makes pictures out of it. Her latest moves, colour and montage, are therefore perfectly logical. Thanks to digital technology, she can now also impose her will on the pictures she creates in colour. Never has photography been so far removed from naive naturalism and normality. Published with Codax Publishers, Zurich.

Ausst. u.d.T.: Correspondances - Valérie Belin/Édouard Manet Quentin Bajac, Sylvie Patry, 2008 Valérie Belin II Valérie Belin, 2016 The Invention of the Visible Patrick Vauday, 2017-08-17 We live in a mediated society, a society one could call a society of images. Working at the intersection of aesthetics and politics, Patrick Vauday challenges the dominant assumptions of this society and its disposition towards images. This challenge does not advocate repudiating images altogether but rather entreats us to see them in a different light This new way of thinking of images affords a glimpse into what images do and produce rather than viewing them as copies or mere representations Images are dynamic agents that are active in our world rather than simply empty reflections of it Rethinking the concept of the image in this fashion opens up new ways of interpreting and engaging with works of art This reconsideration of the role of images in society is the starting point for a new politics that considers the multiple and complex efficacies by which images act circulate and are created

Photo Art Uta Grosenick, Thomas Seelig, 2007 As digital technologies continue to impact photography there are those image makers who rise above the fray to produce compelling work Photo Art Photography in the 21st Century features 120 of the latest greatest and newly up and coming artists in a luscious compendium each showcased in a four page spread with texts by sixteen top curators and theorists and a glossary of important terms More than a coffee table book Photo Art reads like an international art fair between covers Publisher's website

Arts and Power Lisa Gaupp, Alenka Barber-Kersovan, Volker Kirchberg, 2022-09-05 The focus on concepts of power and domination in societal structures has characterized sociology since its beginnings Max Weber's definition of power as imposing one's will on others is still relevant to explaining processes in the arts whether their production imagination communication distribution critique or consumption Domination in the arts is exercised by internal and external rulers through institutionalized social structures and through beliefs about their legitimacy achieved by defining and shaping art tastes The complexity of how the arts relate to power arises from the complexity of the policies of artistic production distribution and consumption policies which serve to facilitate or hinder an aesthetic object from reaching its intended public Curators critics and collectors employ a variety of forms of cultural and artistic communication to mirror and shape the dominant social economic and political conditions Arts and Power Policies in and by the Arts brings together diverse voices who position the societal functions of art in fields of domination and power of structure and agency whether they are used to impose hegemonic totalitarian or unjust goals or to pursue social purposes fostering equal rights and grassroots democracy The contributions in this volume are exploratory steps towards what we believe can be a more systematic empirically and theoretically founded sociological debate on the arts and power And they are an invitation to take further steps
