Valiant Runaways:

The Valiant Runaways Gertrude Franklin Horn Atherton, 2004-10 Roldan Castanada walked excitedly up and down the verandah of his father's house his thumbs thrust into the red silk sash that was knotted about his waist his cambric shirt open at the throat as if pulled impatiently apart the soft grey sombrero on the back of his curly head making a wide frame for his dark flushed scowling face There was nothing in the surroundings to indicate the cause of his disturbance The great adobe house its white sides and red tiles glaring in the bright December sun would have been as silent as a tomb but for the rapid tramping of Roldan and the clank of his silver spurs on the pavement On all sides the vast Rancho Los Palos Verdes cleft the horizon Don Mateo Castanada was one of the wealthiest grandees in the Californias and his sons could gallop all day without crossing the boundary line of their future possessions The rancho was as level as mid ocean in a calm here and there a wood or river broke the sweep thousands of cattle grazed Now and again a mounted vaquero clad in small clothes vivified with silver trimmings dashed amongst tossing horns shouting and warning

The Valiant Runaways Gertrude Atherton, 2021-10-21 Set in California rebellious young Roldan Castanada is resignedly awaiting his call up to the army A brave man it isn't fear which makes him angry about the situation but rather the beckoning grey drudgery of an enforced army life Deciding to take matters into his own hands Roldan runs away and persuades his friend Adan to join him Out in the wilds of California the two men encounter all kinds of dangers as they attempt to flee A fascinating beautifully descriptive tale from the famous author Gertrude Atherton Gertrude Atherton 1857-1948 was an American novelist short story writer and early feminist Born in California Gertrude attended schools in California and Kentucky and became widely read She married George H B Atherton in 1876 and lived with him and his mother in San Francisco where they had two children Atherton struggled with married life her husband did not support her writing ambitions and Gertrude found life as a wife and mother stifling When her husband died at sea in 1887 Atherton felt free to pursue her burgeoning career as an author and went on to publish over 50 novels She is best known for her California series of novels which explored the social history of California and included popular works such as The Californians and the controversial Black Oxen which was adapted into a silent movie in 1923 Feminist themes and strong female characters are common in her novels She died in San Francisco in 1948

The Valiant Runaways (Classic Reprint) Gertrude Franklin Horn Atherton, 2017-10-12 Excerpt from The Valiant Runaways When Roldan made up his mind he acted promptly No time was to be lost in this case Now was the hour of siesta he could have no better time to get away A note would relieve his parents of a certain amount of anxiety and if they did not know where he was they could not be held accountable His blood tingled at the presentiment of the adventures he should have in that perilous journey through a country of which he knew nothing beyond his father's and the adjoining rancho. And as adventures would be but half-spiced if experienced alone, he determined and not from selfish motives. Only to save his best beloved friend Adan Pardo from the grasp of the law, likewise.
