

I am King MINOS, the mighty ruler of Crete. For decades, all the kings of Greece feared my ruthless navy. But when my wife and queen, Pasiphae, gave birth to a monster, I commanded Daedalus the inventor to build a prison from which it could never escape. Now I feed my enemies to the monster, and no one dares challenge me.

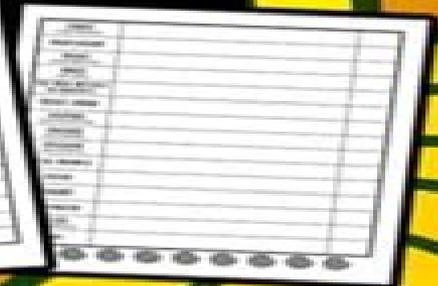

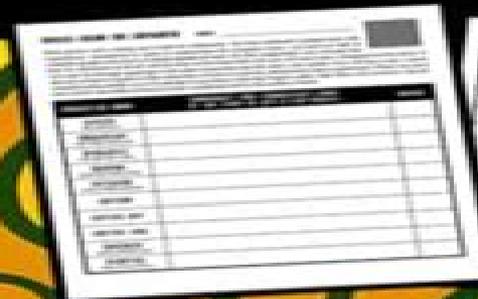

I am POSEIDON, the mighty god of the sea, and any king who hopes to sail his ships across my sea must receive my blessing. Since King Minos was the unparalleled ruler of the Mediterranean, I sent a beautiful white bull out of the sea to show him my favor. He was supposed to sacrifice it to my honor. When he did not, I conspired with Aphrodite to curse him.

What do I know of the world? Only darkness have I seen. I wander the maze. The curved walls comfort me. Rats are my main food, but sometimes I find humans there. I devour them. A girl came once. She spoke to me and taught me to understand her words. She told me I was not just a beast, but a human, too. One day I encountered a boy, who did not fear me. He had the strength of ten men. He battled me. He overpowered me. He took the life from me. But I remember who I am. The girl told me. I am ASTERION.

Labyrinths of Voice Robert Kroetsch, Shirley C. Neuman, Robert Wilson, 1982 Fulbright Labyrinths Virginia Hall-Milhouse, 2011-11-28 In this provocative work Virginia Milhouse demonstrates how autoethnography combines creative and analytical practices to help bring to consciousness some complex social and political agendas hidden in narratorial writings It demonstrates how an arts based qualitative research method narrative inquiry can be fused with a scientific based quantitative method DMIS IDI and compliment support and or correct each other It also demonstrates how writing as a method of inquiry can be a viable way for researchers to learn about themselves and their research as well as features standards for evaluating creatively and analytically constructed text Further the author s examination of the aesthetics of inner readiness and in betweenness will be very helpful to people doing this kind of self reflexive fieldwork The reader will also appreciate this author s recognition of the importance of combining qualitative and quantitative methodologies something not many writers can do with great success Also this book will be a real contribution to sojourners and others traveling or living abroad The work is very smart and is beautifully and clearly written The labyrinth quote at the beginning of her work is very fitting and certainly promises to illustrate those words Aeneas Takes the Metro Fiona Cox, 2017-12-02 This study traces Virgil s journey through twentieth century France by examining his profile in the works of Gide Aragon Valery Pagnol Klossowski Butor Simon and Pinget and by looking at how their Virgilian appropriations complement and modify current readings of the Aeneid and other works His presence in these works provides insights not only into modern French culture but into the Virgilian oeuvre itself This process of mutual illumination is highlighted in Cox s argument by theories of intertextuality and dialogism Although Virgil s presence in French literature is characterized by its focus on exile and uncertainty Cox s study reaffirms the multivalency of this great European poet and his continuing relevance at the turn of the millennium
