Why Spiritual Capital Matters Craig E. Mattson, 2021-05-21 When personal life splinters from professional life as it does for so many people today we often hold forth a vision of human life in which everything fits together work family community and the common good Organizational leaders love this dream because frankly when people bring their whole selves to work they are more productive What s good for the company in this case looks to be good for the staff member too And that s no small accomplishment in a time when pandemic and racial inequity have made organizational leadership so economically and socially challenging But all too often this dream of holistic living and work relies too heavily upon the inner resources of individuals The result is burnout as leaders grow fatigued and team members feel manipulated This book s research among social entrepreneurs with close attention to the experience of entrepreneurs of color suggests that workplace communities have the economic and social resources needed for commonwealth But the goods remain latent Instead of obsessing about what individual inwardness can do we should catalyze those latent resources This book shows leaders how to start new conversations and tell new stories in order to cultivate spiritual capital and activate those latent goods

Spiritual Growth Matters! Paul E Sheppard, 2019-07 What thirty year old still rides a bicycle with training wheels or plays with dolls It s unthinkable And yet it s sad to say too many Christians hold onto childish spiritual habits failing to experience the fullness of life as mature followers of Christ As we grow up we put away childish ways We encounter greater risks responsibilities joys challenges and thrills All of that is a natural part of life Boys and girls mature through adolescence becoming responsible adults In Spiritual Growth Matters Pastor Paul Sheppard reveals God s amazing joy filled plan for spiritual growth When Jesus said You must be born again He didn t intend to fill His church with spiritual babies Instead God destined His children to grow in faith discover purpose and live out their high calling as mature men and women of faith Walk into the fullness of your destiny Experience more peace joy and love than you ever thought possible by growing in intimacy with God Paul Earl Sheppard is senior pastor of Destiny Christian Fellowship in
