Slow Fade To Black:

Slow Fade to Black Thomas Cripps,1977-02-03 Set against the backdrop of the black struggle in society Slow Fade to Black is the definitive history of African American accomplishment in film both before and behind the camera from the earliest movies through World War II As he records the changing attitudes toward African Americans both in Hollywood and the nation at large Cripps explores the growth of discrimination as filmmakers became more and more intrigued with myths of the Old South the lost cause aspect of the Civil War the stately mansions and gracious ladies of the antebellum South the happy slaves singing in the fields Cripps shows how these characterizations culminated in the blatantly racist attitudes of Griffith s The Birth of a Nation and how this film inspired the N A A C P to campaign vigorously and successfully for change While the period of the 1920s to 1940s was one replete with Hollywood stereotypes blacks most often appeared as domestics or natives or were portrayed in shiftless cowardly Stepin Fetchit roles there was also an attempt at independent black production on the whole unsuccessful But with the coming of World War II increasing pressures for a wider use of blacks in films and calls for more equitable treatment African Americans did begin to receive more sympathetic roles such as that of Sam the piano player in the 1942 classic Casablanca A lively thorough history of African Americans in the movies Slow Fade to Black is also a perceptive social commentary on evolving racial attitudes in this country during the first four decades of the twentieth century

Slow Fade to Black T. Cripps,1977 Slow Fade to Black Thomas Cripps,1993 Straight Lick J. Ronald Green,2000-09-22 A critical examination of the films of Oscar Micheaux One of the most original and successful filmmakers of all time Oscar Micheaux was born into a rural working class African American family in mid America in 1884 yet he created an impressive legacy in commercial cinema Between 1913 and 1951 he wrote directed and distributed some forty three feature films more than any other black filmmaker in the world a record of production that is likely to stand for a very long time Micheaux s work was founded upon the concern for class mobility or uplift for African Americans Uplift provided the context for Micheaux s extensive commentary on racist cinema such as D W Griffith s 1915 blockbuster The Birth of a Nation which Micheaux answered with his very early films Within Our Gates and Symbol of the Unconquered Uplift explains Micheaux s use of negative images of African Americans as well as his multi pronged campaign against stereotype and caricature in American culture His campaign produced a body of films saturated with a nuanced intertextual signifying boldly and repeatedly treating controversial topics that face white censorship time after time topics ranging from white mob and Klan violence to light skin color fetish to white financing of black cultural productions African Americans in Film Camille R. Michaels,2017-07-15 The whitewashing of roles in films and the lack of representation at awards shows such as the Oscars are only two of the career obstacles African American actors and filmmakers have historically faced Although blackface is now taboo racism is still prevalent in Hollywood Readers explore the causes of the systemic oppression that has made it difficult for African Americans to break into the movie business Through full color photographs and primary sources

readers will learn how to become more thoughtful viewers of movies and television

Representing Blackness Valerie Smith, 1997 Managed Care Referral is a hands on reference guide which defines internal and external strategies and methodologies to acquire manage and retain referrals in a managed care environment The reader will gain the knowledge and means to identify and capitalize on existing and new referral opportunities after learning the intricacies and dynamics of referral acquisition management and retention Further a major portion of the book deals with recruiting

On the Real Side Mel Watkins, 1994 After generations of stereotypes and neglect this hidden tradition finally emerged before general audiences with Richard Pryor in the 1970s

Black Manhood on the Silent Screen Gerald R. Butters, 2002 In early twentieth century motion picture houses offensive stereotypes of African Americans were as predictable as they were prevalent Watermelon eating chicken thievery savages with uncontrollable appetites Sambo and Zip Coon were all representations associated with African American people Most of these caricatures were rendered by whites in blackface Few people realize that from 1915 through 1929 a number of African American film directors worked diligently to counter such racist definitions of black manhood found in films like D W Griffith s The Birth of a Nation the 1915 epic that glorified the Ku Klux Klan In the wake of the film s phenomenal success African American filmmakers sought to defend and redefine black manhood through motion pictures Gerald Butters s comprehensive study of the African American cinematic vision in silent film concentrates on works largely ignored by most contemporary film scholars African American produced and directed films and white independent productions of all black features Using these race movies to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race in popular culture he separates cinematic myth from historical reality the myth of the Euro American controlled cinematic portrayal of black men versus the actual black male experience Through intense archival research Butters reconstructs many lost films expanding the discussion of race and representation beyond the debate about good and bad imagery to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race as device in the context of Western popular culture He particularly examines the filmmaking of Oscar Micheaux the most prolific and controversial of all African American silent film directors and creator of the recently rediscovered Within Our Gates the legendary film that exposed a virtual litany of white abuses toward blacks Black Manhood on the Silent Screen is unique in that it takes contemporary and original film theory applies it to the distinctive body of African American independent films in the silent era and relates the meaning of these films to larger political social and intellectual events in American society By showing how both white and black men have defined their own sense of manhood through cinema it examines the intersection of race and gender in the movies and offers a deft interweaving of film theory American history and film history

Black Novelist as White Racist Joseph A. Young, 1989-08-07 In exceptionally close analyses of six novels by black writer Oscar Micheaux 1884 1948 beginning with The Conquest written in 1913 The Forged Note 1915 The Homesteader 1917 The Wind from Nowhere 1941 The Case of Mrs Wingate 1945 and The Story of Dorothy Stanfield 1946 Young traces the development of Micheaux s racial theories and of his stance as apologist for American imperialism Young argues that these novels are examples of the detrimental effect of oppressive myths on early twentieth century black behavior and values The characters in the novels tend to mirror the black stereotypes of the post bellum confederate romanticists both the Cavalier racists and the Negrophobes Adopting the world view of the oppressor required that Micheaux reject both his own blackness and that of his racial kinsmen Along with many other black writers Micheaux believed that to assimilate blacks must learn to pass for white by adopting Anglo Saxon values myths and philosophy The novels make statements about life from a point of view that exaggerates the worst side of black character perpetuating the myth of black inferiority that the black protagonists transcend Young explores the influences of both Jack London and Friedrich Nietzsche on Micheaux s heroes Micheaux s significance lies less as a figure of literary merit than as an especially graphic example of a black artist unwittingly espousing the beliefs of the oppressor rather than writing out of a truly black aesthetic philosophy Ironically Micheaux not only perpetuated racist myths in his novels but was the victim of such myths as well Between 1919 and 1948 Micheaux also wrote directed and produced over thirty films and was perhaps the most important Afro American filmmaker before the Civil Rights Movement The only in depth study of Micheaux s novels and one rich in period detail and insights into the evolution of black stereotypes as reflected in the novels of a black artist Black Novelist as White Racist would be useful to students and teachers of Afro American Literature and Plains and Western Literature as well as to those interested in race theory film history and sociology

Black American Cinema Manthia Diawara, 2012-10-02 This is the first major collection of criticism on Black American cinema From the pioneering work of Oscar Micheaux and Wallace Thurman to the Hollywood success of Spike Lee Black American filmmakers have played a remarkable role in the development of the American film both independent and mainstream In this volume the work of early Black filmmakers is given serious attention for the first time Individual essays consider what a Black film tradition might be the relation between Black American filmmakers and filmmakers from the diaspora the nature of Black film aesthetics the artist s place within the community and the representation of a Black imaginary Black American Cinema also uncovers the construction of Black sexuality on screen the role of Black women in independent cinema and the specific question of Black female spectatorship A lively and provocative group of essays debate the place and significance of Spike Lee Of crucial importance are the ways in which the essays analyze those Black directors who worked for Hollywood and whose films are simplistically dismissed as sell outs to the Hollywood master narrative as well as those crossover filmmakers whose achievements entail a surreptitious infiltration of the studios Black American Cinema demonstrates the wealth of the Black contribution to American film and the complex course that contribution has taken Contributors Houston Baker Jr Toni Cade Bambara Amiri Baraka Jacquie Bobo Richard Dyer Jane Gaines Henry Louis Gates Jr Ron Green Ed Guerrero bell hooks Phyllis Klotman Ntongele Masilela Clyde Taylor and Michele Wallace Chicago's New Negroes Davarian L. Umoja, 1980 Black Film, White Money Jesse Algeron Rhines, 1996 Why are there so few Black filmmakers who control their own work Why are there scarcely any Black women behind the camera What happens to Black filmmakers when they move from independent production to the mainstream What does it mean for whites to control Black images and their distribution globally And was it always so Could it be different In this vivid portrait of their historic and present day contributions Jesse Rhines explores the roles African American men and women have played in the motion picture business from 1915 to the present He illuminates his discussion by carefully linking the history of early Black filmmaking to the current success of African American filmmakers and examines how African Americans have been affected by changes that have taken place in the industry as a whole He focuses on the crucial role of distribution companies the difficulty of raising money for production the compromises that directors and writers must make to get funding and the effect of negative sensationalistic images on the Black community Many well known directors including Spike Lee Reginald Hudlin and Grace Blake are interviewed in the book allowing Rhines to give readers an inside look at how deal making does or does not work Rhines surveys significant eras in film history and their impact on African Americans from the silent era and the impact of The Birth of a Nation through the emergence of the Black owned Lincoln Motion Picture Company and the later introduction of sound to the postwar era the antitrust suit against Paramount Pictures the introduction of television and Blaxploitation movies that won audiences back He brings the story up to date with present day blockbusters and the success of Spike Lee who began as an independent and became a force in the industry and others who hope to follow in Lee's footsteps Rhines who has worked behind the camera himself reflects on independent filmmaking the risks of both failure and success and his hope for positive change in the African American community if more African American filmmakers can come to the forefront in the business

Cuttin' Up Court Carney, 2009 Reveals how the new technologies of mass culture the phonograph radio and film played a key role in accelerating the diffusion of jazz as a modernist art form across the nation's racial divide Focuses on four cities New Orleans New York Chicago and Los Angeles to show how each city produced a distinctive style of jazz

The Double "v" Byron

Richard Skinner, 1978 Son of Man Dennis Potter, 1970 The key to a bold and original approach to the mission, arrest, trial and death of Jesus is the title Son of Man. He is portrayed as a man agonized by the feeling of divinity within him and with all a man's capacity for suffering and pain. "Father, let me be just a man," he cries, and to his disciples, "He, Son of Man, cannot be other than a man, or else God has cheated and so my Father in Heaven will abandon me to myself." The play also strongly reflects the historical and political situation in which the events occur and examines in a new light the character and motives of Judas Iscariot, the 3 women, and the 27 men.

Wide Angle, 1980 Film, Culture, and the Black Filmmaker Madubuko Diakité, 1980 Split Image Jannette Lake Dates, William Barlow, 1993 A comprehensive history of African Americans in the mass media, music, film, radio, television, advertising, and print and broadcast news makes this volume a unique contribution to communications studies.
