The African Running Revolution:

The African Running Revolution Dave Prokop, 1975 The biggest story in track and field this past decade has been the astounding breakthrough of the African runners in international competition Here is the most complete and incisive book yet published Here is the most complete and incisive book yet published on this phenomenal success story What are the African runners really like and how do they approach competition It altitude training is the secret behind the success of the African runners as so many believe how is it that of all the people in the world who live at altitude the only high altitude dwellers who collectively have made any mark in the track world are runners from the East African tableland what explains the incredible success story of Kenya's Kalenjin and Kisii tribes who have accounted for all 45 of Kenya's Olympic and Commonwealth Games medals since 63 Kenya has more than 30 tribes in all Can the Kalenjin and Kisii be a race of super runners genetically Is there any scientific evidence to support the widely held theory that athletes living at high altitudes have a natural physiological advantage over sea level natives in the endurance running events These and a long list of other subjects are covered in this book by such writers as Philip Ndoo himself one of Kenya's finest runners John Manners Bob Hancock a coach on the 72 Olympic team Dr Jack Daniels Geoff Fenwick Dave Prokop and David Lewis Ben Jipcho's former coach A special bonus for readers will be Tom Sturak's in depth story on Filbert Bayi undoubtedly the most complete story yet written on the Tanzanian superstar Illustrated with numerous action photographs The African Running Revolution is a book no track fan should miss

East African Running Yannis Pitsiladis, John Bale, Craig Sharp, Tim Noakes, 2007-01-24 What makes East African middle and long distance runners the best in the world How should contemporary academia approach this question The success of East African distance runners has generated a plethora of studies but much of the evidence presented to support hypotheses is anecdotal arguments being led by non academics who use popular media as their medium rather than relying on scientific publications This has resulted in many stereotypical arguments being advocated Within the academic community research has also been restricted by its isolation within either the natural science or social science communities East African Running Towards a Cross Disciplinary Perspective presents a rare collaboration between researchers from the sports sciences and social sciences to explore the questions raised by the phenomena of East African success on the track The text includes psycho social and economic explanations physiological and genetic explanations attempts to provide unified theories bringing together ideas from natural and social sciences Includes contributions from John Bale Jim Denison Timothy D Noakes and Craig Sharp

Running Times, 2007-07 Running Times magazine explores training from the perspective of top athletes coaches and scientists rates and profiles elite runners and provides stories and commentary reflecting the dedicated runner's worldview

Kenya's Running Women Michelle M Sikes, 2023-12-01 Since Pauline Konga's breakthrough performance at the 1996 summer Olympics in Atlanta the world has become accustomed to seeing Kenyan women medal at major championships sweep marathons and set world records Yet little is known about the pioneer generation of women who paved the way for Kenya's reputation as an international powerhouse in women's track and field. In Kenya's Running Women: A History, historian and former professional runner Michelle M. Sikes details the triumphs and many challenges these women faced from the advent of Kenya's athletics program in the colonial era through the professionalization of running in the 1980s and 1990s. Sikes reveals how over time running became a vehicle for Kenyan women to expand the boundaries of acceptable female behavior. Kenya's Running Women demonstrates the necessity of including women in histories of African sport and of incorporating sport into studies of African gender and nation building.
