Whole Grain Sampler England Press New, Jan Siegrist, 1990-03-01 Seed Analysis Hans-Ferdinand Linskens, John F. Jackson, 2013-11-11

Modern Methods of Plant Analysis When the handbook Modern Methods of Plant Analysis was first introduced in 1954 the considerations were 1 the dependence of scientific progress in biology on the improvement of existing and the introduction of new methods 2 the difficulty in finding many new analytical methods in specialized journals which are normally not accessible to experimental plant biologists 3 the fact that in the methods sections of papers the description of methods is frequently so compact or even sometimes so incomplete that it is difficult to reproduce experiments These considerations still stand today The series was highly successful seven volumes appearing between 1956 and 1964 Since there is still today a demand for the old series the publisher has decided to resume publication of Modern Methods of Plant Analysis It is hoped that the New Series will be just as acceptable to those working in plant sciences and related fields as the early volumes undoubtedly were It is difficult to single out the major reasons for success of any publication but we believe that the methods published in the first series were up to date at the time and presented in a way that made description as applied to plant material complete in itself with little need to consult other publications

Contribution authors have attempted to follow these guidelines in this New Series of volumes Wheat: Chemistry and Technology Khalil Khan, 2016-06-10

Bedo,L. Láng,2013-06-29 Wheat breeders have achieved significant results over the last fifty years in research on mankind s one of the most important crops Classical genetic and breeding methods far broader international cooperation than was experienced in earlier periods and improvements in agronomic techniques have led to previously unimaginable development in the utilisation of wheat for human consumption The contribution of wheat researchers is particularly noteworthy since these results have been achieved at a time when the world population has grown extremely dynamically Despite this demographic explosion of a proportion never previously experienced thousands of millions of people have been saved from starvation thus avoiding unpredictable social consequences and situations irreconcilable with human dignity Despite these developments in many regions of the world food supplies are still uncertain and the increase in the world s wheat production has not kept pace with the population increase during the last decade Due to the evils of civilisation and the pollution of the environment there is a constant decline in the per capita area of land suitable for agricultural production Based on population estimates for 2030 the present wheat yield of around 600 million tonnes will have to be increased to almost 1000 million tonnes if food supplies are to be maintained at the present level Grain World ,1928 Pesticide residues in food 2024 - Evaluation Part 1 - Residues FAO, WHO,2025-09-19 The Joint FAO WHO Meeting on Pesticide Residues JMPR comprises the FAO Panel on Pesticide Residues and the WHO Core Assessment Group The WHO Core Assessment Group is responsible for reviewing pesticide toxicological data and estimating acceptable daily intake ADI and acute reference doses ARfDs and characterizing other toxicological criteria TheFAO Panel on Pesticide Residues reviews the results of a range of studies including residue field trials and processing studies These studies called evaluations are conducted for each individual pesticide and published in this report for the benefit of national governments who may use the information while undertaking national assessments Mycotoxins in Plants and Plant Products Martin Weidenbörner,2017-05-10 This book provides detailed data and information about the cereals and cereal products that are affected by mycotoxins and gives a basic overview of mycotoxins in these foodstuffs Mycotoxin contamination of food occurs as a result of crop invasion by field fungi such as Fusarium spp and Alternaria spp or storage fungi such as Aspergillus spp and Penicillium spp which can grow on in stored commodities and are able to produce mycotoxins In the worst case these fungi produce secondary metabolites called mycotoxins which can be very harmful to humans and animals when for example they are consumed through food due to their various negative effects on several organs in both humans and animals Mycotoxins in Plants and Plant Products Cereals and Cereal Products lists the predisposition of a foodstuff for mycotoxin contamination as well as the degree of contamination concentration and country of detection origin for each case of mycotoxin contamination of this kind of foodstuff It includes both alphabetical and numerical lists of literature
