Zealand is an emerging paradigm for successful cultural relations Although the nation s Maori indigenous Polynesian and Pakeha colonial European populations of the 19th century were dramatically different and often at odds they are today co contributors to a vibrant society For more than a century they have been working out the kind of nation that engenders respect and well being and their interaction though often riddled with confrontation is finally bearing bicultural fruit By their model the encounter of diverse cultures does not require the surrender of one to the other rather it entails each expanding its own cultural categories in the light of the other The time is ripe to explore modern New Zealand s cultural dynamics for what we can learn about getting along The present anthropological work focuses on religion and related symbols forms of
