Porter, 2015-07-09 Excerpt from The Stars in Song and Legend I have attempted in this little volume to present the legendary lore of the heavens in such a way as to attract the unprofessional reader By numerous poetical quotations I have tried also to show the intimate connection of the stars with the best and highest in literature The book embodies to a considerable extent the material that I have collected on this subject in the course of many years lecturing to college classes though I have made free use also of that encyclopedic work on Star Names and their Meanings by R H Allen published only a year or two ago So exhaustive is the treatment of the constellations in Mr Allen s book that there might seem small excuse for again presenting the subject but the very completeness of that volume will render it less useful to many who might be interested in a briefer and more popular account of the star legends I wish also here to record my indebtedness to Sir Norman Lockyer s Dawn of Astronomy for much interesting information concerning sun worship among the ancients I have consulted besides many of the older standard works on mythology and on the constellations About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original
