

An abstract painting featuring a grid of dark lines that divide the space into several rectangular sections. The background is a mix of muted colors, including shades of green, purple, and grey, with visible brushstrokes and a textured surface. In the lower right quadrant, there is a prominent, dark, almost black, shape that resembles a stylized eye or a shadowed object. The overall composition is layered and complex.

Weather Eye Open Sarah Gridley, 2005-04-01 The windmill's labor is contingent upon the weather upon what air masses at any given time overlie its landscape Anticipatory in mood Weather Eye Open adopts the emblem of the windmill seeking what Merleau-Ponty calls the inspiration and expiration of Being The windmill serves as analogue to the perceiving subject to the poet whose consciousness though rooted and partial is yet always receptive to being energized turned Like open sails the perceiver ushers the weather indoors converting one motion the wind to another the grinding burrstones The poems in this collection pursue a similar transmutation through language a staying open to its various weather and whether systems For Sarah Gridley language strikes at the X of experience part presence and part absence part spirit and part matter part home and part homesickness part harnessed and part wild In the face of such weather the stance of the poet is both rapacious and passive searching and struck still

The Home of the Eddic Poems Sophus Bugge, 1899 Power to Hurt William Frank Monroe, 1998 William Monroe addresses what William J Bennett ignores in The Book of Virtues How do readers use literature as equipment for living Tackling modernism and postmodernism Monroe outlines virtue criticism an alternative to current theory Focusing on works by T S Eliot Vladimir Nabokov and Donald Barthelme he demonstrates that these alienistic texts are not just filled with belligerence but are also endowed with virtues such as trust and the promise of solidarity with the reader By considering these vital texts as responses to personal situations and institutional practices Monroe brings literature back to the common reader and shows how it offers functional responses to the dysfunctional situations of modern life Readers interested in literary criticism American culture and the relationship between ethics and literature will be fascinated by virtue criticism and this fresh look at the virtues and vices of alienation Chosen as a Choice Magazine's Outstanding Academic Book for 1999 The Home of the Eddic Poems Sophus Bugge, 1972 [The Printed Works of Robert Burns. Dark Archive Laura Mullen, 2011-03-29 Dark archive The purpose of a dark archive is to function as a repository for information that can be used as a failsafe during disaster recovery Laura Mullen's fourth collection is a sequence of beautifully interrelated poems that explores how to accurately represent the reality of change and loss Mullen pinpoints what is at stake the possibility of communication and connection and the hope of intimacy Invoking Wordsworth's I wandered lonely as a cloud she pushes experiments in consciousness against their boundaries in an array of poetic forms Poetic tropes are measured against natural phenomena as Mullen examines what witness might mean in the context of the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina the failures of capitalism to effect social justice the murder of James Byrd in Texas the personal loss of a mother figure and a disintegrating love affair

The Banjo Clock Karen Garthe, 2012-06-25 For Karen Garthe poetry is a Molotov cocktail A master of radical invention Garthe combines brio of conception with linguistic virtuosity bringing language to new life from the inside at breakneck speed The Banjo Clock her second collection cultivates a luxuriant sensibility even as it interrupts poetic continuity with cuts ironies sharp wit and wild recklessness In poems that consider poetry itself Garthe writes about preparing the medium the ink the motion of new utility She then turns to America's psychic maladies and the need to rehabilitate our democracy now floundering in the glare of TV's blue depressive light
