Northeast Pennsylvania July 22 1857 At first a physical weakling he drew away from the customary associations of child hood and youth and fell into a remarkable companionship with nature and as the growth of the frail body lagged his mental powers grew in such wise as to separate him still further from more conventional asso ciates In childhood he found sermons in stones and books in running brooks and in youth his school was the forest about his father s homestead in central New York There his taste for nature was intensified and the habit of interpreting things in accordance with natural prin ciples rather than conventional axioms grew so strong as to control his later life Meantime relieved of the constant waste of mentality through the friction of social relation his mind gained in vigor and force he became a genius About the Publisher Forgotten Books
