Culture Marc J. Swartz, David K. Jordan, 1980-01-01      A Mythological Approach to Exploring the Origins of Chinese Civilization Shuxian Ye, 2022-08-26 Is the lion the symbol of China? Or should it be the dragon or the phoenix? This book makes a provocative interpretation of the Chinese ancient totems such as the bear and the owl. Taking a mythological approach, it explores the origin of Chinese civilization using the quadruple evidence method, which integrates ancient and unearthed literature, oral transmission, and archeological objects and graphs. It testifies to the authenticity of unresolved ancient myths and legends from the origins of Chinese Jade Ware (6200 BC - 5400 BC) to the names of the Yellow Emperor (2698 - 2598 BC) and the legends from the Xia (2010 BC - 1600 BC), Shang (1600 BC - 1046 BC), Zhou (1046 BC - 771 BC), and Qin (221 BC - 206 BC) Dynasties. The book lays the foundation for a reconstruction of Chinese Mythistory. With well over 200 photographs of historic artifacts, the book appeals to both researchers and general readers.

Understanding the Risk Society Gabriel Mythen, 2017-09-16 In this penetrating account of the impacts of risk on everyday life, Gabe Mythen provides a theoretically informed overview of the regulation of crime and security in a globalized world. By explicating the relationships between risk and crime, security, and justice, the text applies risk to specific incidents and events, scrutinizing social processes and cultural practices and illuminating some of the central social and political issues of the modern age. Extending across a range of domains including law, the environment, media, and politics, Mythen embarks on a conceptual and critical exploration of risk theory. In doing so, his incisive text presents both a critical evaluation of the efficacy of competing perspectives on risk and an authoritative appraisal of the place of risk within the social sciences and on the history of property rights in England and Japan

Anthropological Perspectives on Technology Michael B. Schiffer, 2001 These fourteen original essays accept a dual premise technology pervades and is embedded in all human activities By taking that approach studies of technology address two questions central in anthropological and archaeological research today accounting for variability and change These diverse yet interrelated chapters show that to understand human lives researchers must deal with the material world that all peoples create and inhabit Therefore an anthropology of technology is not a separate discrete inquiry instead it is a way to connect how people make and use things to any activity studied ranging from religion to enculturation to communication to art Each contributor discusses theories and methods and also offers a substantial case study These detailed inquiries span human societies from the Paleolithic to the computer age By moving beyond the usual approach of examining ancient technologies particularly chipped stone and low fired ceramics this volume probes for the construction of meaning in the material world across millennia The authors of these essays find technology to be an inclusive and flexible topic that merges with studies of everything else in human activity A provocative and powerful discussion of the role of technology in human cultures At a time when archaeology has become less focused on theory and archaeology and social anthropology seem to fracture farther and farther apart the book is a breath of fresh air Professor John Douglas University of Montana

Anthropological Perspectives on Care Erdmute Alber, Heike Drotbohm, 2015-09-02 In the course of last two decades the notion of care has become prominent in the social and cultural sciences As a result of this proliferation of care in several disciplinary fields we are observing not only the expansion of its conceptual meaning but also an increasing imprecision in its usage A growing amount of literature focuses on the intersection between work gender ethnicity affect and mobility regimes In view of this growing field of literature Anthropological Perspectives on Care looks at the notion of care from an anthropological perspective Complementing earlier approaches Alber and Drotbohm argue that an interpretation of care in relation to three different concepts namely work kinship and the life course will facilitate empirical and conceptual distinctions between the different activities that are labeled as care
