other globally traded commodities have risen sharply A contributor to this has been the shift to bioenergy cropping fuelled by concerns over post peak oil and climate change Agricultural supply chain interests have embraced the new environmentalism of climate change with enthusiasm proudly proclaiming the readiness of the industry to produce both food and energy crops and to do so with a neo liberal confidence in markets to determine the balance between food and non food crops in land use But policy and politics have not necessarily caught up with these market and industry led changes and some environmentalists are beginning to challenge the assumptions of the new productivism Is it necessarily the case they ask that agriculture s best contribution to tackling climate change is to grow bioenergy crops or invest in anaerobic digesters or make land over for windfarms Might not there be an equally important role in maximising the carbon sequestration or water holding properties of biodiverse land What is Land For tackles these key cutting edge issues of this new debate by setting out a baseline of evidence and ideas
