The Evaluation Of Social Programs

Russell K. Schutt

The Evaluation Of Social Programs:

The Evaluation of Social Programs Abt Associates, 1976 Evaluation has rapidly developed into an exciting interdisciplinary academic and applied research field. Indications are that this specialty will continue to expand and become more rigorous and demanding. Vast numbers of fields and different methodologies are using evaluation research techniques now. Yet relatively little attention has been paid to the consequences of systematic evaluation practice particularly as it affects the development and in some cases continued existence of numerous social programs. The Evaluation of Social Programs addresses these questions. It is a unique book offering up to date views of experts drawn from government universities, charitable foundations and independent research organizations who are leading practitioners or consumers of social programs research. Program Evaluation for Social Workers Richard M. Grinnell, Peter A. Gabor, Yvonne A. Unrau, 2018-12-27 Over the course of 20 years and eight editions the goals of the book have remained the same to prepare students to participate in evaluative activities within their organizations become beginning critical producers and consumers of the professional evaluative literature and reap the benefits of more advanced evaluation courses and texts. The authors aim to meet these objectives by presenting a unique approach that is realistic, practical, applied and user friendly. Unlike other textbooks on the market Program Evaluation for Social Workers presents both program level evaluation and case level evaluation methods assuming that neither of these two distinct approaches alone adequately reflects the realities of the field. The book demonstrates how they can instead complement each other. This integration of approaches provides an accessible, adaptable and realistic framework for students and beginning practitioners to more easily grasp and implement in the real world.

Evaluating Social Programs and Problems Stewart I. Donaldson, Michael Scriven, 2003 Today's evaluators are being challenged to help design and evaluate social programs intended to prevent and ameliorate complex social problems in a variety of settings including schools, communities and not for profit and for profit organizations. Drawing upon the knowledge and experience of world renowned evaluators the goal of this new book is to provide the most up to date theorizing about how to practice evaluation in the new millennium. It features specific examples of evaluations of social programs and problems including the strengths and weaknesses of the most popular and promising evaluation approaches to help readers determine when particular methods are likely to be most effective. As such it is the most comprehensive volume available on modern theories of evaluation practice. Evaluating Social Programs and Problems presents diverse cutting edge perspectives articulated by prominent evaluators and evaluation theorists on topics including but not limited to Michael Scriven on evaluation as a trans discipline, Joseph S. Wholey on results oriented management, David Fetterman on empowerment evaluation, Yvonna S. Lincoln on fourth generation evaluation, Donna M. Mertens on inclusive evaluation, Stewart I. Donaldson on theory driven evaluation and Melvin M. Mark on an integrated view of diverse visions for evaluation. Evaluating Social Programs and Problems is a valuable resource and should be considered required reading for practicing

The Evaluation of Social Programs C. C.
