The Evolution of Differentiation William S. Bullough, 2013-10-22 The Evolution of Differentiation attempts to sketch the outlines of a framework from what is now known or suspected of the various aspects of differentiation in all types of organisms This book surveys the many aspects of differentiation that are seen today and in particular because of the evident universality of expression of the genetic code to enquire whether any similar universality exists in the methods of gene repression and activation The information reviewed ranges from the chemical control of the genetic mechanisms of unicellular organisms during their various phases of activity to the chemical control of differentiation in multicellular organisms both during embryonic development and in the adult state Finally some consideration is also given to that collapse of differentiation which leads to cancer

The Evolution of Language out of Pre-language T. Givón, Bertram F. Malle, 2002-12-18 The contributors to this volume are linguists psychologists neuroscientists primatologists and anthropologists who share the assumption that language just as mind and brain are products of biological evolution The rise of human language is not viewed as a serendipitous mutation that gave birth to a unique linguistic organ but as a gradual adaptive extension of pre existing mental capacities and brain structures The contributors carefully study brain mechanisms diachronic change language acquisition and the parallels between cognitive and linguistic structures to weave a web of hypotheses and suggestive empirical findings on the origins of language and the connections of language to other human capacities The chapters discuss brain pathways that support linguistic processing origins of specific linguistic features in temporal and hierarchical structures of the mind the possible co evolution of language and the reasoning about mental states and the aspects of language learning that may serve as models of evolutionary change
