Great American History Ron Thom,2018-05-15 A person could write a history story every day for the rest of his life and not come close to covering all the history of America The history of America in the last five hundred years reflect every human experience that man possesses The stories selected for this book depict men women and events of every possible description Most of these stories are not found in high school history books yet are influential in the development of America Kit Carson fought Indians but also guided Fremont through the West Elizabeth Blackwell became the first woman to receive a medical degree in America at a time when women were not even thought of as citizens Then there is the innovative genius of the Burma Shave signs that sold shaving cream all over the country History is a very delicate subject The reader is at the mercy of the eye witness account of a person s actions or an event taking place The eye witness from one side will see it one way while the person recording the event from the other side may see it differently It is then up to the historian to decipher these varying accounts and determine what really happened It is possible that both sides were wrong Historians have the task of inspecting as many

versions of the same story as possible to come to some reasonable expectation of what actually took place A case in point would be the story of the Alamo Texans tell the story as they wanted it while the Mexicans tell a story that is completely opposite See Dequello inside The stories in this book have been compared and researched as honestly as it is possible to do remembering that there are precious few eye witnesses left Stepping Stones ,1926 Sons and Other Flammable Objects Porochista Khakpour,2008-11-09 The Iranian American author s award winning debut examines an immigrant s coming of age with punchy conversation vivid detail and sharp humor The New York Times Book Review Growing up in the United States Xerxes Adam s understanding of his Iranian heritage vacillates from typical teenage embarrassment to something so tragic it can barely be spoken His father Darius is obsessed with his own exile and fantasizes about a nonexistent daughter he can relate to better than his living son His mother changes her name and tries to make friends But neither of them helps Xerxes make sense of the terrifying violent last moments in a homeland he barely remembers As Xerxes grows up and moves to New York City his major goal in life is to completely separate from his parents But after the attacks of September 11th change New York forever and Xerxes meets a beautiful half Iranian girl on the roof of his building he begins to realize that his heritage will never let him go Winner of the California Book Award Silver Medal in First Fiction Sons and Other Flammable Objects is a sweeping lyrical tale of suffering redemption and the role of memory in making peace with our worlds A New York Times Book Review Editor s Choice Historical Tales Charles Morris,1904 The winged prophet from Hermes to Quetzalcoatl : an introduction to the Mesoamerican deities through the Tarot Carol Miller,1994 The Romance of Reality Charles Morris,1896 Miscellaneous Papers.
