

STATUS AND ROLE

At its core, power is the ability to influence or control the behavior of others, often against resistance. Harold Lasswell, a prominent political scientist, concisely encapsulates this concept as "who gets what, when, and how"

Alexander Haslam, Daan van Knippenberg, Michael J. Platow, Naomi Ellemers, 2014-04-04 Social identity research is very much on the ascendancy particularly in the field of organizational psychology Reflecting this fact this volume contains chapters from researchers at the cutting edge of these developments A Neighborhood Divided Jane Balin, 2018-10-18

When a nursing facility for AIDS patients is planned for a city neighborhood residents might be expected to respond Not in my backyard But as Jane Balin recounts in A Neighborhood Divided when that community is known for its racial and ethnic diversity and liberal attitudes public reaction becomes less predictable and in many ways more important to comprehend An ethnographer who spent two years talking with inhabitants of a progressive neighborhood facing this prospect Jane Balin demonstrates that the controversy divided residents in surprising ways She discovered that those most strongly opposed to the facility lived furthest away that families with young children were evenly represented in the two camps and that African Americans followed a Jewish community leader in opposing the home while dismissing their own minister s support of it By viewing each side sympathetically and allowing participants to express their true feelings about AIDS the author invites readers to recognize their own anxieties over this sensitive issue Balin s insightful work stresses the importance of uncovering the ideologies and fears of middle class Americans in order to understand the range of responses that AIDS has provoked in our society Its ethnographic approach expands the parameters of NIMBY research offering a clearer picture of the multi faceted anxieties that drive responses to AIDS at both the local and national levels Stratification Wendy

Institutional Determinants of Social Inequality Frédérique Autin, Fabrizio Butera, 2016-05-09 Understanding the factors that create and maintain social inequities is a core question in social psychology Research has so far focused on the role of individual stereotyping prejudice and discrimination However there is no such thing as a biased act of prejudiced individuals structural factors in the reproduction of social inequalities Indeed people are immersed in a world and that is the way forward In this research topic we propose to bring together the ideology and practice of the government This can be done by the researcher who is responsible for the work of the researcher the researcher the researcher the researcher the researcher
