The stupendous system of truth therefore contained in the writings of this man is not to be considered his but the Lord's. He was but the chosen instrument to receive and make known to men truths which no amount of labor or study could ever have enabled him to discover. Hear what the seer himself says on this subject. What Makes Life Meaningful? Thaddeus Metz, Joshua W. Seachris, 2023-11-30. Can human life be meaningful? What does it mean to talk about life's meaning, even to mean it? What is God's role, if any, in a meaningful life? These three questions frame this one-of-a-kind debate between two philosophers who have spent most of their professional lives thinking and writing about the topic of life's meaning. In this wide-ranging scholarly conversation, Professors Thaddeus Metz and Joshua W. Seachris develop and defend their own unique answers to these questions while responding to each other's objections in a lively dialog format. Seachris argues that the concept of life's meaning largely revolves around three interconnected ideas: mattering, purpose, and sense-making. That a meaningful human life involves sufficiently manifesting all three, and that God would importantly enhance the meaningfulness of life on each of these three fronts. Metz instead holds that talk of life's meaning is about a variety of properties, such as meriting pride, transcending one's animal self, making a contribution, and authoring a life story. For him, many lives are meaningful insofar as they exercise intelligence in positive, robust, and developmental ways. Finally, Metz argues that God is unnecessary for an objective meaning that suits human nature. Metz and Seachris develop and defend their own unique answers to these three questions while responding to each other's objections in a dialog format that is accessible to students, though given their new contributions will be of great interest to scholars as well.
