Chronicles is a major work, a collection of current, pressing, and inspirational stories of Indigenous communities from the Canadian subarctic to the heart of Dine Bii Kaya Navajo Nation. Chronicles is a book literally risen from the ashes, beginning in 2008 after her home burned to the ground and collectively is an accounting of Winona's personal path of recovery, finding strength and resilience in the writing itself as well as in her work. Recovering the Sacred Winona LaDuke, 2016-04-11 Through the voices of ordinary Native Americans, LaDuke is able to transform highly complex issues into stories that touch the heart. Roxanne Dunbar Ortiz, author of An Indigenous Peoples History of the United States. The indigenous imperative to honor nature is undermined by federal laws approving resource extraction through mining and drilling. Formal protections exist for Native American religious expression but not for the places and natural resources integral to ceremonies. Under what conditions can traditional beliefs be best practiced? From the author of All Our Relations: Native Struggles for Land and Life, Recovering the Sacred features a wealth of native research and hundreds of interviews with indigenous scholars and activists. Documents the remarkable stories of indigenous communities whose tenacity and resilience has enabled them to reclaim the lands, resources, and life ways after enduring centuries of incalculable loss.

Wilma Mankiller, author of Every Day is a Good Day

Winona Laduke Michael Silverstone, 2001 A compelling look at a national leader in the struggle to restore Native American lands.

All Our Relations Winona LaDuke, 1999 Discusses how Native American cultures have been affected by the loss of biodiversity throughout history.

Honor the Earth Phil Bellfy, 2022 The Great Lakes Basin is under severe ecological threat from fracking, bursting pipelines, sulfide mining, abandonment of government environmental regulation, invasive species, warming, and lowering of the lakes, etc. This book presents essays on Traditional Knowledge, Indigenous Responsibility, and how Indigenous people, governments, and NGOs are responding to the environmental degradation which threatens the Great Lakes. This volume grew out of a conference that was held on the campus of Michigan State University on Earth Day 2007. All of the essays have been updated and revised for this book. Among the presenters were Ward Churchill, author and activist; Joyce Tekahnawiiaks King, Director, Akwesasne Justice Department; Frank Ettawageshik, Executive Director of the United Tribes of Michigan; Aaron Payment, Chair of the Sault Sainte Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians; and Dean Sayers, Chief of the Batchewana First Nation. Winona LaDuke, author, activist, twice Green Party VP candidate, also contributed to this volume.

Adapted from the Introduction by Dr Phil Bellfy The elements of the relationship that the Great Lakes ancient peoples had with their environment developed over the millennia was based on respect for the natural landscape pure and simple The original people of this area not only maintained their lives they thrived within the natural boundaries established by their relationship with the natural world In today s vocabulary it may be something as simple as an understanding that if human beings take care of the environment the environment will take care of them The entire relationship can be summarized as harmony and balance based on respect
