The Modern Tradition:

The Modern Tradition, Edited by R. Ellmann and C. Feidelson, 1965 The Modern Tradition Richard Ellmann, C. Feidelson, 1965 The modern tradition : backgrounds of modern literature Richard Ellmann, 1971 The Modern Tradition, 1965 Wilson Harris and the Modern Tradition Sandra E. Drake, 1986-08-13 Rituals and Traditional Events in the Modern World Jennifer Laing, Warwick Frost, 2014-10-30

Many events have evolved over centuries drawing on local customs and conditions. However, as the world becomes increasingly globalised, traditional events and the identities they support are increasingly being challenged, and rituals may be lost. Reacting against this trend towards homogeneity, communities strive to preserve and even recreate their traditional events, which may require rituals to be resurrected or reinvented for a new audience. The aim of this book is to explore the role of traditional events and rituals in the modern world. The 16 chapters cover a range of case studies of the performance of ritual through events, including their historical antecedents and development over time, as well as their role in society, link with identities (both seemingly fixed and fluid), and their continued relevance. The cases examined are not museum pieces but rather vibrant festivals and events that continue to persist. Drawing on the power of history and cultural tradition, they are manifestations of heritage existing in three temporalities: celebrating the past, occurring in the present, and aiming to continue into and influence the future. Iconic events including Chinese New Year, Hogmanay, and the New Orleans Mardi Gras are examined, and examples are drawn from a diverse range of countries such as South Korea, China, Laos, the United States, Scotland, Italy, India, and Haiti. This volume provides a deep understanding of the role of tradition and ritual within events from a global perspective and will be valuable reading for students, researchers, and academics interested in events, heritage, and culture. David Milne and the Modern Tradition of Painting John O'Brian, 1983 Tradition Witnessing the Modern Age Enes Ergene, 2008-11

Addressing the sociological, cultural, and religious aspects of the Gülen movement, this insider's look also explores the failure experienced by many other Islamic movements that attempted to combine traditional values with the modern world. The influence Fethullah Gülen has had on secularist Turkey is also examined. The Making of the Modern Canon Jan Gorak, 2014-01-13

This book is part of a series which moves the canon debate of the 1980s forward into a new multidisciplinary and cross-cultural phase by investigating problems of canon formation across the whole humanistic field. Some volumes explore the linguistic, political, or anthropological dimensions of canonicity. Others examine the historical canons of individual disciplines. The important contribution to the canon debate is remarkable in examining the actual process of canon formation from three unusual and complementary angles. The first two chapters discuss historical attitudes to canons from antiquity onwards, showing the religious, aesthetic, cultural, and political interests which have shaped our modern critical canons. Each of the four succeeding chapters examines an exemplary modern defendant, interpreter, or critic of canons: Ernst Gombrich, Northrop Frye, Frank Kermode, and Edward Said. A final chapter considers the origins and rationale of the contemporary debate, emphasizing the disciplinary and aesthetic problems we must confront if our cultural institutions are to meet the changing needs of the next century Finnish Architecture and the Modernist Tradition Malcolm Quantrill, 1995 This is a unique and comprehensive study of the entire span of Finnish architecture in the 20th century Using comparative critical analysis the author weaves Aalto's contribution into his overview of the evolution of modern Finnish architecture and includes the work of a range of lesser published figures It will be of considerable interest to architects art historians and all those interested in modern Finnish architecture

The Modern Stage and Other Worlds (Routledge Revivals) Austin E. Quigley, 2015-08-11 Modern plays are strikingly diverse and as a result any attempt to locate an underlying unity between them encounters difficulties to focus on what they have in common is often to overlook what is of primary importance in particular plays to focus on their differences is to note the novelty of the plays without increasing their accessibility In this study first published in 1985 Austin E. Quigley takes as his paradigm case the relationship between the world of the stage and the world of the audience and explores various modes of communication between domains He asks how changes in the structure of the drama relate to changes in the structure of the theatre and changes in the role of the audience Detailed interpretations of plays by Pinero Ibsen Strindberg Brecht Ionesco Beckett and Pinter question principles about the modern theatre and establish links between drama structure and theatre structure theme and performance space

The modern tradition Richard Ellmann, Charles Feidelson, 1968 The Modern Arabic Literary Language Jaroslav Stetkevych, 2006 The Modern Arabic Literary Language is a thoughtful examination of the changes that the Arabic language has undergone in its transition from its roots in classical Arabic to a language able to meet the demands of twentieth century life In this volume a respected and masterful scholar of the Arabic language Jaroslav Stetkevych notes the ways that new words have been incorporated into the language ranging from deriving new terms from existing roots for example the word for newspaper derives from the word meaning sheet to write on to downright assimilation of foreign words Also noting the changes in grammar and semantics Stetkevych illustrates how literary Arabic has become a more flexible language Originally published in 1970 this volume is a clear assessment of lexical and stylistic developments in Modern Literary Arabic This classic book is an important resource for scholars and advanced students of Arabic language and linguistics who wish to study the complexities of language change and lexical expansion

On the Thirty-nine Articles Oliver O'Donovan, 2013-01-07 The Thirty Nine Articles together with the Book of Common Prayer form the foundation of Anglican theology Yet there are very few extended treatments of them Oliver O'Donovan relates the Articles to the exhilarating and troubled century in which they took shape He also shows how the distinctive insights and values of a past age relate to the demands of today's world What I propose in this case is not to talk solely about the Articles but to talk about God mankind sic and redemption the central matters of the Christian faith and to take the Tudor authors with me as companions in discussion Two voices will be speaking each raising the questions that Christian faith in his time forces upon him Here is a new edition of his book on one of the key texts of Anglican identity by one of the UK's leading theologians. The book has been out of print for some time and there have been repeated calls for a new edition with a new introduction which engages with more recent developments and offers the text to a new generation.
