Menzies, 2020-10-05 Pentecostals are often portrayed as emotional people who are driven largely by experience In Christ Centered Menzies argues that this caricature misses the fact that Pentecostals are fundamentally people of the book Although Pentecostals encourage spiritual experience they do so with a constant eye to Scripture The Bible and particularly the book of Acts fosters and shapes pentecostal experience Additionally Pentecostals are defined by their emphasis on a personal relationship with Jesus Christ At its heart the pentecostal movement is not Spirit centered but rather Christ centered The work of the Spirit as Pentecostals understand it centers on exalting and bearing witness to the Lordship of Christ Menzies develops these themes by examining the origins biblical foundations and missional orientation of the modern pentecostal movement He concludes that in spite of contradictory messages from some in fundamentalist pews and the pentecostal academy Pentecostals are and have always been solidly evangelical A House Full of Apes Margaret Berger Morse, 2014-07-28 A family of stuffed apes and their friends join a human family and have many adventures together grew symbiotically transforming the ways that Americans worshipped worked and consumed Gilded Age evangelicals initially understood themselves primarily as new Christian workers employees of God guided by their divine contract the Bible But when these ideas were put to revolutionary ends by Populists corporate evangelicals reimagined themselves as savvy religious consumers and reformulated their beliefs Their consumer oriented orthodoxy displaced traditional creeds and undermined denominational authority forever altering the American religious landscape Guaranteed pure of both liberal theology and Populist excesses this was a new form of old time religion not simply compatible with modern consumer capitalism but uniquely dependent on it
