Humor and Laughter, Playfulness and Cheerfulness: Upsides and Downsides to a Life of Lightness Willibald Ruch,Tracey Platt,René T. Proyer,Hsueh-Chih Chen,2019-08-12 The emergence of Positive Psychology has highlighted the importance of studying the good life and how to attain it Positive life outcomes such as well being thriving flourishing and happiness were discussed and investigated Among them different orientations to happiness were identified such as a life of pleasure life of meaning and life of engagement Other outcomes such as subjective and objective fulfillment in life or societal recognition have been less studied Among the characteristics that facilitate positive outcomes the VIA classification of strength and virtues distinguishes 24 strengths with humor playfulness being one of them Only a small segment of humor entered the definition of humor as character strengths namely the parts that contain some goodness Humor as a character strength facilitates a lot of positive outcomes such as positive emotions and positive relationships and there is a lightness accompanying humor playfulness The field is broader though and transcends the definition of humor as used in positive psychology in at least two ways First there is actually a family of overlapping but still distinct concepts with different research traditions We include next to humor and types of humor also laughter playfulness and cheerfulness We think that more research is needed on how they do overlap and what makes them distinct Second while positive psychology is interested in the goodness of we do want to stress that there is the need to study the non virtuous parts as well That is laughter may not only be expressing amusement but scorn directed at people humor may be benevolent but there is also sarcasm and playfulness may elicit positive emotions but also risk prone and immature types of behavior Therefore the aim of this Research Topic was to collect current perspectives on humor playfulness laughter and cheerfulness in both adults and children to study their full diversity but also interrelations and overlapping features to introduce new instruments or ways for their assessment in future studies and to study their causes and consequences in a variety of life domains We encouraged studies on differences due to gender or nationality the embodiment in different groups e g class clowns psychiatric patients or whether or not they can be trained We also welcomed contributions from adjacent disciplines e g education leisure studies or therapy counseling and different regions of the earth The outcome is a set of 33 manuscripts from altogether 101 authors Not all areas are covered and not all aims were met while we made progress there is much left to do In this sense the merging of these topics may be the first milestone but like every milestone it only marks the beginning of a long journey

Families as Learning Environments for Children Luis Laosa,2013-11-11 The chapters in this volume reflect the work and thoughts of a group of researchers interested in studying families as learning environments for children As we proceed in our quest to identify and understand with some specificity the familial factors associated with the intellectual and social development of children the time is ripe for the reintroduction of families as units of study in psychological and educational research With the increasing focus on the changing organization of the modern family it is of more than academic interest to identify those variables that play a significant role in the child s development Such knowledge certainly should help in the planning and design of appropriate and credible applications These chapters representing a broad spectrum of research derive from papers presented and discussed at a working conference on families as learning environments sponsored by Educational Testing Service in Prince ton New Jersey Following the conference the papers were revised and edited for inclusion in this volume We are indebted to a number of people whose contributions helped make the conference a success Samuel J Messick and Winton H Manning for their support Jan Flaughter Jessie Cryer Linda Kozelski and Betty Clausen for assistance with local arrangements and William Nemceff Kathleen Lingle and Kalina Gonska for help with the audio recording of the proceedings LUIS M LAOSA IRVING E SIGEL vii Contents Introduction XI Luis M Laosa Chapter 1 Families as Facilitators of Children s Intellectual Development at 3 Years of Age A Causal Analysis The Encyclopædia
