THE STAGES OF HIGHER KNOWLEDGE

IN MY BOOK, Knowledge of the Higher Worlds and Its Attainment, the path to higher knowledge has been traced up to the meeting with the two Guardians of the Threshold. The relation in which the soul stands to the different worlds as it passes through the successive stages of knowledge will now be described. What will be given may be called "the teachings of occult science."

Before man enters upon the path of higher knowledge, he knows only the first of four stages of cognition. This stage is the one he occupies in ordinary life in the world of the senses. Even in what is called science, we have to do only with this first stage of knowledge, for science merely elaborates ordinary cognition more minutely and in a disciplined way. Aided by instruments — the microscope, the telescope, and so forth — the senses examine their surroundings with greater exactness than they could without these aids. Yet man remains at the same stage of cognition whether he sees large things with the naked eye or observes small objects and phenomena with the aid of a microscope. Also in the application of thinking to facts and things, this science remains in the realm of everyday life. Man arranges the objects, describes and compares them, seeks to picture to himself their variations, and so forth. The keenest scientist does nothing fundamentally, in this respect, but develop to a fine art the methods of observing everyday life. His knowledge embraces a wider range, becomes more complex and more logical, but he does not proceed to any other mode of cognition.

In occult science this first stage of knowledge is called the "material mode of cognition." This is followed by three higher stages, and there are still others beyond these. These stages of knowledge shall be described here before proceeding with the description of the "path of knowledge." Considering the ordinary method of scientific cognition, of apprehension through the senses as the first stage, we shall have to differentiate the following four stages:

1. Material knowledge.
2. Imaginative knowledge.
3. Inspirational knowledge, which may also be called "of the nature of will."
4. Intuitive knowledge.

These stages will be discussed here. It must first be made quite clear what is significant in these different modes of cognition. — In the ordinary sense knowledge four elements are to be considered: (1) the object, which makes an impression upon the senses; (2) the image, which the human being forms of this object; (3) the concept, through which the human being arrives at a spiritual comprehension of an object or an event; (4) the ego, which forms for itself the image and concept based on the impression of the object. Before the human being makes for himself an image, a "representation," an object is there that causes it. He does not form the object, he perceives it, and on the basis of this object, the image arises. As long as we are

The Stages Of Higher Knowledge:

The Stages of Higher Knowledge Rudolf Steiner, 2009-08 What does it mean to be human Human development unfolds in a twofold way On the one hand there is an ever more profound incarnation or inhabitation of the physical body On the other hand there is the increasing discrimination of the individual objects of the world Difficulties and obstacles along this path can lead to so called disabilities K nig s approach to curative education allows us to see these disabilities as meaningful ways of coping with or resolving the various problems that arise in living in a physical body From this point of view disabilities are exaggerated forms of ways we all use to cope with life The point is not only to see the deviations but to see them against the mighty backdrop of a comprehensive child anthropology Being Human presents the outline of just such a comprehensive anthropology Being Human is of value not only to those working in special education but to anyone interested in the dynamics of incarnation and normal development

Stages of Higher Knowledge Rudolf Steiner, H. Collison, 1930 Stages of Higher Knowledge Rudolf Steiner, 1930 Knowledge of the Higher Worlds and Its Attainment Rudolf Steiner, 1947-11 This is one of the most popular classic translations of Steiner s foundational guide to the spiritual path Knowledge of the Higher Worlds and Its Attainment is a manual for attaining suprasensory knowledge of the invisible and opens new perspectives on one s essential purpose in life In 1904 Rudolf Steiner first made this account of the Western esoteric path of initiation public With great precision he carefully leads us from the cultivation of the fundamental soul attitudes of reverence and inner tranquility to inner development through the stages of preparation illumination and initiation Practical exercises in inner and outer observation and moral development are given By patiently and persistently following these new organs of soul and spirit begin to form that reveal the contours of the higher worlds hitherto concealed from us The methods by which a student is prepared for the reception of higher knowledge are minutely prescribed The direction he is to take is traced with unfading everlasting letters in the worlds of the spirit where the initiates guard the higher secrets In ancient times anterior to our history the temples of the spirit were also outwardly visible today because our life has become so unspiritual they are not to be found in the world visible to external sight yet they are present spiritually everywhere and all who seek may find them Contents How is Knowledge of the Higher Worlds Attained The Stages of Initiation Enlightenment Preparation The Control of Thoughts and Feelings Initiation Some Practical Aspects The Conditions of Esoteric Training Some Results of Initiation The Transformation of Dream Life The Continuity of Consciousness The Splitting of the Human Personality during Spiritual Training The Guardian of the Threshold Life and Death The Greater Guardian of the Threshold Appendix Not everyone can immediately achieve spiritual vision but the discoveries of those who have it can be health giving life nourishment for all The results of supersensible knowledge when properly employed in life prove to be not impractical but rather practical in the highest sense The acquisition of higher knowledge is not the end but the means to an end the end consists in the attainment thanks to this knowledge of greater and truer self confidence a higher degree of courage and a magnanimity and perseverance such as cannot as a rule be acquired in the lower world The student places all the higher knowledge he has acquired at the service of humanity Rudolf Steiner

Enlivening the Chakra of the Heart Florin Lowndes,2013-04-16 The seer and teacher Rudolf Steiner advised that specific accompanying or fundamental spiritual exercises should always be carried out in conjunction with meditation While meditation is the foundation of any spiritual path of development it can pose dangers to normal consciousness These exercises offer a protection by helping to develop inner certainty and strength This is achieved for example through the first exercise by concentrating and intensifying the powers of thinking through the second by developing the control of the will through the third by mastering the outer expressions of the life of feeling and so on Florin Lowndes describes the fundamental exercises in thorough detail giving suggestions as to how they may be carried out He also relates an important and hidden aspect that the exercises embody the means for developing and strengthening organic and living thinking which is intimately related to the enlivening of a new organ of perception the heart chakra or lotus Lowndes casts new light on many aspects of this question and offers encouragement and stimulus to those seeking a modern path of spiritual development FLORIN LOWNDES was born in Romania in 1938 and had an international career in architectural art and design In 1970 he emigrated to the United States where he taught at college level and in Steiner Waldorf schools Since 1971 he has been engaged in the study of anthroposophy and has written many articles for journals on related questions He co authored The Human Life and founded the Center of Heart Thinking in Boston At present he leads training seminars in the United States and throughout Europe
