Preserving and Exhibiting Media Art Julia Noordegraaf, Vinzenz Hediger, Cosetta Saba, Barbara Maitre, 2025-10-01 This important and first of its kind collection addresses the emerging challenges in the field of media art preservation and exhibition providing an outline for the training of professionals in this field Since the emergence of time based media such as film video and digital technology artists have used them to experiment with their potential The resulting artworks with their basis in rapidly developing technologies that cross over into other domains such as broadcasting and social media have challenged the traditional infrastructures for the collection preservation and exhibition of art Addressing these challenges the authors provide a historical and theoretical survey of the field and introduce students to the challenges and difficulties of preserving and exhibiting media art through a series of first hand case studies Situated at the threshold between archival practices and film and media theory it also makes a strong contribution to the growing literature on archive theory and archival practices A companion to media art provides the first full fledged introduction to the emerging new field of the preservation and presentation of media art from a truly international perspective Bringing together contributions from authors from all over Europe and the United States and combining the rich insights of scholars curators and artists the book addresses the history theory and technical aspects of creating and curating media art A companion to media art is the first textbook for students in advanced degree programs that lead to careers in the field of preserving and curating media art in media archives and museum collections For the general reader the book provides an introduction to this fascinating new field The combination of incisive scholarly articles and cases studies provides for a comprehensive view of the field that will interest scholars artists archivists and curators alike

Culture as Capital Slavko Kacunko,2015-03-02 By following and reproducing the cultural turn the rhetoric of cultural mix and hybridism is disseminated today primarily in its crossing of trade barriers Cultures reduced to their exchange value function as capital an accumulative speculative and ultimately financial affair In some of its media and site un specific manifestations process art which aims to encompass both old and new media art seems to resist this pressure despite nonetheless not being protected from regulations and incorporations In the present collection of his recent essays Slavko Kacunko discusses the process art by crossing the disciplines of art history and comparative media visual and cultural studies As a first approximation several historiographical remarks on closed circuit video installations underline their importance as a core category of process art In the second part the problems of process art seen as a threshold of art history are further examined in another retroanalytical step in which concepts and objects related to mirror frame and immediacy are analyzed as the triple delimitation of visual culture studies In the third part previously outlined manifestations of what is termed the post visual condition are summarized and projected to the coreless core of the emerging art and research related to the coreless beings par excellence the bacteria

Exhibiting Cinema in Contemporary Art Erika Balsom,2025-10-01 Whether it involves remaking an old Hollywood movie projecting a quiet 16mm film or constructing a bombastic multi screen environment cinema now takes place not just in the movie theatre and the home but also in the art gallery and the museum The author of this engaging study takes stock of this development offering an in depth inquiry into its genesis its defining features and the ramifications it has for art and cinema alike Through the lens of contemporary art history she examines cinema studies great disciplinary obsession namely what cinema was is and will become in a digital future
