20. Whose Forests?

Daughter of the jungle

Look at the picture. Where do you think these children are off to, with little bundles on their sticks? When you find out you too would want to go with them!

The children are going to the forest. There they jump, run, climb trees and sing songs in their language called Kuduk. They pick the fallen flowers and leaves, to weave them into necklaces.

Art by Anshu

They enjoy the wild fruits. They look for birds, whose calls they imitate. Joining them in all this fun is their favourite didi – Suryamani.

Every Sunday Suryamani takes the children to the forest. As they move around, she shows them how to recognise the trees, the plants, and animals. Children enjoy this special class in a forest! Suryamani always says, "To learn to read the forest is as important as reading books." She says, "We are forest people (adivasis). Our lives are linked to the forests. If the forests are not there, we too will not remain."

Suryamani's story is a true story. Suryamani is a 'Girl Star'. 'Girl Stars' is a project which tells extraordinary tales of ordinary girls, who have changed their lives by going to school.

Teacher's Note : Encourage children to share their experiences and imagination about forests. Planting thousands of trees does not make a forest. It is important to discuss the web of relationships between plants, trees and animals in a forest, to see how they depend on each other for food, security and habitat.
