Green Building Best:

The World's Greenest Buildings Jerry Yudelson, 2013-01-17 The World's Greenest Buildings tackles an audacious task. Among the thousands of green buildings out there, which are the best and how do we know? Authors Jerry Yudelson and Ulf Meyer examined hundreds of the highest rated large green buildings from around the world and asked their owners to supply one simple thing: actual performance data to demonstrate their claims to sustainable operations. This pivotal book presents an overview of the rating systems and shows best-in-class building performance in North America, Europe, the Middle East, India, China, Australia, and the Asia Pacific region. Practical examples of best practices for greening both new and existing buildings, a practical reference for how green buildings actually perform at the highest level, one that takes you step-by-step through many different design solutions, a wealth of exemplary case studies of successful green building projects using actual performance data from which to learn, interviews with architects, engineers, building owners, and developers, and industry experts to provide added insight into the greening process. This guide uncovers some of the pitfalls that lie ahead for sustainable design and points the way toward much faster progress in the decade ahead. Conference Proceedings, Green Building Challenge '98 Canada. Natural Resources Canada, 1998 Positive Development Janis Birkeland, 2012-05-16 Janis Birkeland presents the innovative new paradigm of Positive Development in which the built environment provides greater life quality, health, amenity, and safety for all without sacrificing resources or money. With a different form of design, development itself can become a sustainability solution. A cornerstone of this new paradigm is the eco-retrofitting of the vast urban fabric we already inhabit. The author presents a revolutionary new tool called SmartMode to achieve this end. This book challenges everyone working in or studying the areas of sustainable development, planning, architecture, or the built environment to rethink their current ideas and practices. Handbook of Research on Building Information Modeling and Construction Informatics: Concepts and Technologies Underwood, Jason, Isikdag, Umit, 2009-12-31 In recent years, building information modeling has become a very active research area of construction informatics with investigation of ICT use within construction industry processes and organizations The Handbook of Research on Building Information Modeling and Construction Informatics Concepts and Technologies addresses the problems related to information integration and interoperability throughout the lifecycle of a building from feasibility and conceptual design through to demolition and recycling stages Containing research from leading international experts this Handbook of Research provides comprehensive coverage and definitions of the most important issues concepts trends and technologies within the field
