quality where the newest developments connected to object oriented programming and related areas could be presented and discussed. Over the last few years object oriented technology has gained widespread use and considerable popularity. In parallel with this the field has matured scientifically but there is still a lot of room for new ideas and for hot debates over fundamental issues as these proceedings show. The 22 papers in this volume were selected by the programme committee from 129 submissions. Important issues discussed in the contributions are language design, specification, databases, concurrency types and software development.

Leading educators and researchers Keith Cooper and Linda Torczon have revised this popular text with a fresh approach to learning important techniques for constructing a modern compiler combining basic principles with pragmatic insights from their own experience building state of the art compilers. Presents in depth treatments of algorithms and techniques used in the front end of a modern compiler. Pays particular attention to code optimization and code generation both primary areas of recent research and development. Focuses on how compilers and interpreters implement abstraction tying the underlying knowledge to students own experience and to the languages in which they have been taught to program.
