John W. Rebeck, Frank H.
Bethell, Raymond W. Monto

The Leukemic Cell:

The Leukemic Cell Daniel Catovsky, 1991 This new edition includes two new chapters each on cell markers and DNA analysis Also the role of ultrastructural morphology in immunocytochemistry is examined in greater detail than before and there is a new chapter on lymphoid malignancies The emphasis is on practical approach

The Leukemia Cell Arnold D. Rubin, Samuel Waxman, 1979

The Leukemias: Etiology, Pathophysiology, and Treatment John W. Rebuck, Frank H. Bethell, Raymond W. Monto, 2013-10-22 The Leukemias Etiology Pathophysiology and Treatment documents the proceedings of an International Symposium on The Leukemias Etiology and Pathophysiology held at Henry Ford Hospital Detroit Michigan 8 10 March 1956 This volume gives the present complex position of leukemic etiology and pathophysiologic disturbance a much needed knowledge of detailed leukocytic functions and comprehensive thought on the therapy of the leukemias It also establishes a basis of comparison with the earlier works of Downey and Forkner in this field in the late thirties and thus makes it possible to see with some clarity the extent of progress made The volume contains 39 papers organized into nine parts The papers in Part I focus on the leukemic cell its structure and antigenicity Part II presents studies on genetic and environmental factors in the transmission of leukemia Part III examines the radiation biology of leukocytes Part IV focuses on the leukemias and the malignant lymphomas while Part V deals with leukocytic physiology Part VI covers the metabolism of amino and nucleic acids in the leukemias Part VII takes up further biochemical considerations in the leukemias Part VIII contains papers that examine nucleic acids as the target for chemotherapy Part IX presents a round table discussion on therapy

Dynamic Morphology of Leukemia Cells H. Felix, G. Haemmerli, P. Sträuli, 2012-12-06 Dynamic Morphology is the attempt to correlate surface architecture and shape of fixed cells as visualized by scanning electron microscopy SEM with the behavior of living cells recorded by microcinematography MCM If SEM and MCM are used concurrently for the analysis of cell populations a dynamic interpretation of SEM photographs is only valid if the experimental conditions are identical for the two techniques This is achieved by allowing the cells to settle on a glass surface where they remain long enough to perform their various activities under conditions identical for both techniques for technical details see Methodology The analysis of a population necessitates the study of a large number of cells This prerequisite is met by operating the scanning electron microscope at low levels of magnification and by using culture chambers for cinematography It can be argued that the examination of attached cells excludes a complete SEM survey of a population as cells not adhering from the outset or becoming detached during the different preparatory steps are lost For this cinematography proved to be a reliable control All cell types recognized in time lapse films were also seen in scanning electron SE micrographs Another and more general objection to a dynamic interpretation concerns the artificiality of cellular behavior on glass This is true but does not invalidate comparative studies making use of this substrate

JNCL, Journal of the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.),1982 Unclassifiable Leukemias M. Bessis,G. Brecher,2012-12-06 Jean BERNARD I should like to begin with an assumption and a paradox The assumption is that leukemia is a disease of a stem cell characterized by pathologie alterations of that cell and its progeny All present research and discussions are centered around the leukemic cell So is this symposium which would not take place except for our primary interest in the leukemic cell This does not preclude of course consideration of other definitions and other approaches to the prOblem By definition then the leukemic cells are abnormal cells and their metabolism and functions are presumed to be abnormal Yet the classification of the different types of leukemias is based upon the characteristics of normal cells We talk of lymphoblasts and myeloblasts as predominant cell types in leukemia This leads to a double paradox In the first pi ace it is clearly illogical to classify abnormal cells by their resemblance to normal cells since their very abnormality consists in not being normal Yet as a second paradox the classifica ti on has had the happy consequence of ai ding us in the treatment and prognosis of leukemia for the past 25 years A more detailed analysis shows that the consequence of this paradox are complex while there exists a useful correlation between cellular types treatment and prognosis numerous problems and difficulties persist The most serious of them concerns the unclassified leukemias which are the reason for this reunion Fibrinolysis in Disease - The Malignant Process, Interventions in Thrombogenic Mechanisms, and Novel Treatment Modalities disorders Molecular and Hemovascular Aspects of Fibrinolysis presents the latest findings and concepts of the association between plasminogen activator u PA overexpression and abnormal growth regulation in a variety of solid tumors and in leukemia One chapter deals with various successful interventions in thrombotic mechanisms ranging from exercise and diet to anticoagulants and direct and indirect thrombolytic agents It concludes with a projection of exciting novel treatment modalities in thrombotic and malignant diseases
