The Arts and the Definition of the Human Joseph Margolis,2008-09-10 The Arts and the Definition of the Human introduces a novel theory that our selves our thoughts perceptions creativity and other qualities that make us human are determined by our place in history and more particularly by our culture and language Margolis rejects the idea that any concepts or truths remain fixed and objective through the flow of history and reveals that this theory of the human being or philosophical anthropology as culturally determined and changing is necessary to make sense of art He shows that a painting sculpture or poem cannot have a single correct interpretation because our creation and perception of art will always be mitigated by our historical and cultural contexts Calling upon philosophers ranging from Parmenides and Plato to Kant Hegel and Wittgenstein art historians from Damisch to Elkins artists from Van Eyck to Michelangelo to Wordsworth to Duchamp Margolis creates a philosophy of art interwoven with his philosophical anthropology which pointedly challenges prevailing views of the fine arts and the nature of personhood The Eclectic Magazine of Foreign Literature, Science, and Art ,1889 The Arts and Humanity; A Psychological Introduction to the Fine Arts, by Chas.
