Nova Scotia town settled by former slaves that depicts several generations of one family bound together and torn apart by blood, faith, time, and fate. Vogue Best Books to Read This Winter Structured as a triptych, Africaville chronicles the lives of three generations of the Sebolt family: Kath Ella, her son Omar Etienne, and her grandson Warner, whose lives unfold against the tumultuous events of the twentieth century, from the Great Depression of the 1930s through the social protests of the 1960s to the economic upheavals in the 1980s. A century earlier, Kath Ella's ancestors established a new home in Nova Scotia. Like her ancestors, Kath Ella's life is shaped by hardship; she struggles to conceive and to provide for her family during the long, bitter Canadian winters. She must also contend with the locals' lingering suspicions about the dark-skinned outsiders who live in their midst. Kath Ella's fierce love for her son Omar cannot help her overcome the racial prejudices that linger in this remote, tight-knit place. As he grows up, the rebellious Omar refutes the past and decides to break from the family, threatening to upend all that Kath Ella and her people have tried to build. Over the decades, each successive generation drifts further from Africaville, yet they take a piece of this indelible place with them as they make their way to Montreal, Vermont, and beyond to the deep South of America. As it explores notions of identity, passing, cross-racial relationships, the importance of place, and the meaning of home, Africaville tells the larger story of the black experience in parts of Canada and the United States. Vibrant and lyrical, filled with colorful details and told in a powerful, haunting voice, this extraordinary novel is atmospheric and steeped in history.

The Known World, Barracoon, The Underground Railroad, and The Twelve Tribes of Hattie is a landmark work from a sure to be major literary talent.

She was a man with a special relationship with her. She was arranged to go on a blind date. The two little buns cried as they called her Dad. Is hitting us help? She rushed over with a head full of sweat. The man was rewarding the two little buns who had performed well. She angrily said, "Mu Zhan Qian, my blind date has been destroyed by you." The man said in a low voice, "If you want to remarry, why do you need to go so far? My child, father shouldn't he be the first choice?"

This book is in the field of trans-cultural psychology and is intended for college courses in anthropology and psychology and general readership. The book focuses on intriguing facts about primitive cultures around the world and provides insights into living traditions and different world views. A principal theme of the book is that we can gain a better understanding of ourselves by a detour to other cultures. The book shows how modern ways of thinking are parallel to those of primitive cultures and engages readers to become more aware of who they are. As shown throughout the book, there is not after all a very wide gulf between primitive and modern cultures. The book covers many topics, including animism, shamanism, totemism, hunting and cultivation rituals, altered states of consciousness, envy, and the evil eye, how
