The Balanced Woman:

Food Is Love Katherine J. Parkin, 2011-06-03 Modern advertising has changed dramatically since the early twentieth century but when it comes to food Katherine Parkin writes the message has remained consistent Advertisers have historically promoted food in distinctly gendered terms returning repeatedly to themes that associated shopping and cooking with women Foremost among them was that regardless of the actual work involved women should serve food to demonstrate love for their families In identifying shopping and cooking as an expression of love ads helped to both establish and reinforce the belief that kitchen work was women s work even as women s participation in the labor force dramatically increased Alternately flattering her skills as a homemaker and preying on her insecurities advertisers suggested that using their products would give a woman irresistible sexual allure a happy marriage and healthy children Ads also promised that by buying and making the right foods a woman could help her family achieve social status maintain its racial or ethnic identity and assimilate into the American mainstream Advertisers clung tenaciously to this paradigm throughout great upheavals in the patterns of American work diet and gender roles To discover why Food Is Love draws on thousands of ads that appeared in the most popular magazines of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries including the Ladies Home Journal Good Housekeeping Ebony and the Saturday Evening Post The book also cites the records of one of the nation s preeminent advertising firms as well as the motivational research advertisers utilized to reach their customers The Woman's Journal ,1917 The Woman who Knows Herself Elizabeth Macfarlane Sloan Chesser, 1929 The Woman's Bulletin ,1913

Gender and Identity in Arab Women's Literature Diana Obeid, Sonia Lamrani, 2026-02-19 This volume explores the evolution of Arab women s self representations in literature highlighting their resistance to gendered oppression and their reclaiming of agency through writing Heading Home Shani Orgad, 2019-01-08 Women in today s advanced capitalist societies are encouraged to lean in The media and government champion women s empowerment In a cultural climate where women can seemingly have it all why do so many successful professional women lawyers financial managers teachers engineers and others give up their careers after having children and become stay at home mothers How do they feel about their decision and what do their stories tell us about contemporary society Heading Home reveals the stark gap between the promise of gender equality and women s experience of continued injustice Shani Orgad draws on in depth personal and profoundly ambivalent interviews with highly educated London women who left paid employment to take care of their children while their husbands continued to work in high powered jobs Despite identifying the structural forces that maintain gender inequality these women still struggle to articulate their decisions outside the narrow cultural ideals that devalue motherhood and individualize success and failure Orgad juxtaposes these stories with media and policy depictions of women work and family detailing how even as their experiences fly in the face of fantasies of work life balance and marriage as an egalitarian partnership these women continue to interpret and judge themselves according to the ideals that are failing them

Rather than calling for women to transform their feelings and behavior Heading Home argues that we must unmute and amplify women s desire disappointment and rage and demand social infrastructure that will bring about long overdue equality both at work and at home The Woman's Medical Journal ,1901 The Forum Loretta Sutton Metcalf,Walter Hines Page,Joseph Mayer Rice,Frederic Taber Cooper,Arthur Hooley,George Henry Payne,Henry Goddard Leach,D. The Rise of Neoliberal Feminism Catherine Rottenberg,2018-08-01 From Hillary Clinton to Ivanka Trump and from Emma Watson all the way to Beyonc more and more high powered women are unabashedly identifying as feminists in the mainstream media In the past few years feminism has indeed gained increasing visibility and even urgency Yet in her analysis of recent bestselling feminist manifestos well trafficked mommy blogs and television series such as The Good Wife Catherine Rottenberg reveals that a particular variant of feminism which she calls neoliberal feminism has come to dominate the cultural landscape one that is not interested in a mass women s movement or struggles for social justice Rather this feminism has introduced the notion of a happy work family balance into the popular imagination while transforming balance into a feminist ideal So called aspirational women are now exhorted to focus on cultivating a felicitous equilibrium between their child rearing responsibilities and their professional goals and thus to abandon key goals that have historically informed feminism including equal rights and liberation Rottenberg maintains that because neoliberalism reduces everything to market calculations it actually needs feminism in order to solve thorny issues related to reproduction and care She goes on to show how women of color and poor and immigrant women most often serve as the unacknowledged care workers who enable professional women to strive toward balance arguing that neoliberal feminism legitimates the exploitation of the vast majority of women while disarticulating any kind of structural critique It is not surprising then that this new feminist discourse has increasingly dovetailedwith conservative forces In Europe gender parity has been used by Marine Le Pen and Geert Wilders to further racist anti immigrant agendas while in the United States women s rights has been invoked to justify interventions in countries with majority Muslim populations And though campaigns such as the MeToo and TimesUp appear to be shifting the discussion given our frightening neoliberal reality these movements are currently insufficient Rottenberg therefore concludes by raising urgent questions about how we can successfully reorient and reclaim feminism as a social justice movement Independent Woman ,1921 The History of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs ...
